Peach and Black were everywhere as Jill Matuszak and Dominic Langteau announced the King and Queen for 1988. Jered Blake and Kelly Reed were crowned as the 1988 Junior Prom King and Queen.

Painted Images

As she sat down to the canvas
She wondered
A blank cloth with endless possibility
Certainty can only come through experience
Experience can only come through motion

Soft bristles of her brush
Dip into murky green swamp
A streak to stain once pure fabric
Her process has begun

Another color; brown
Richness of dignity, soft strokes of depth
Slowly she layers
Brown to orange; yellow
Shades of experience, an aura of simplicity

Next red thickly coats the fibers
Color of passion and extremity
Victimizes the image
Distraction lures her concentration
Brush moves without thought
Canvas unthinkingly scarred
Error redefines the image
Adaption aids in recovery
Now creation resumes
Wary of past mistakes, yet rich in character

Violet and white
One of serenity, one of purity
Subtly grace her with knowledge and hope
Completing thought, need to reach out

Finally black
Color of outline, definition, and resolution
Accentuates all, yet carries own message
Signature silences motion

Distance of time
Bares the eternal gift of comprehension
