Foreword

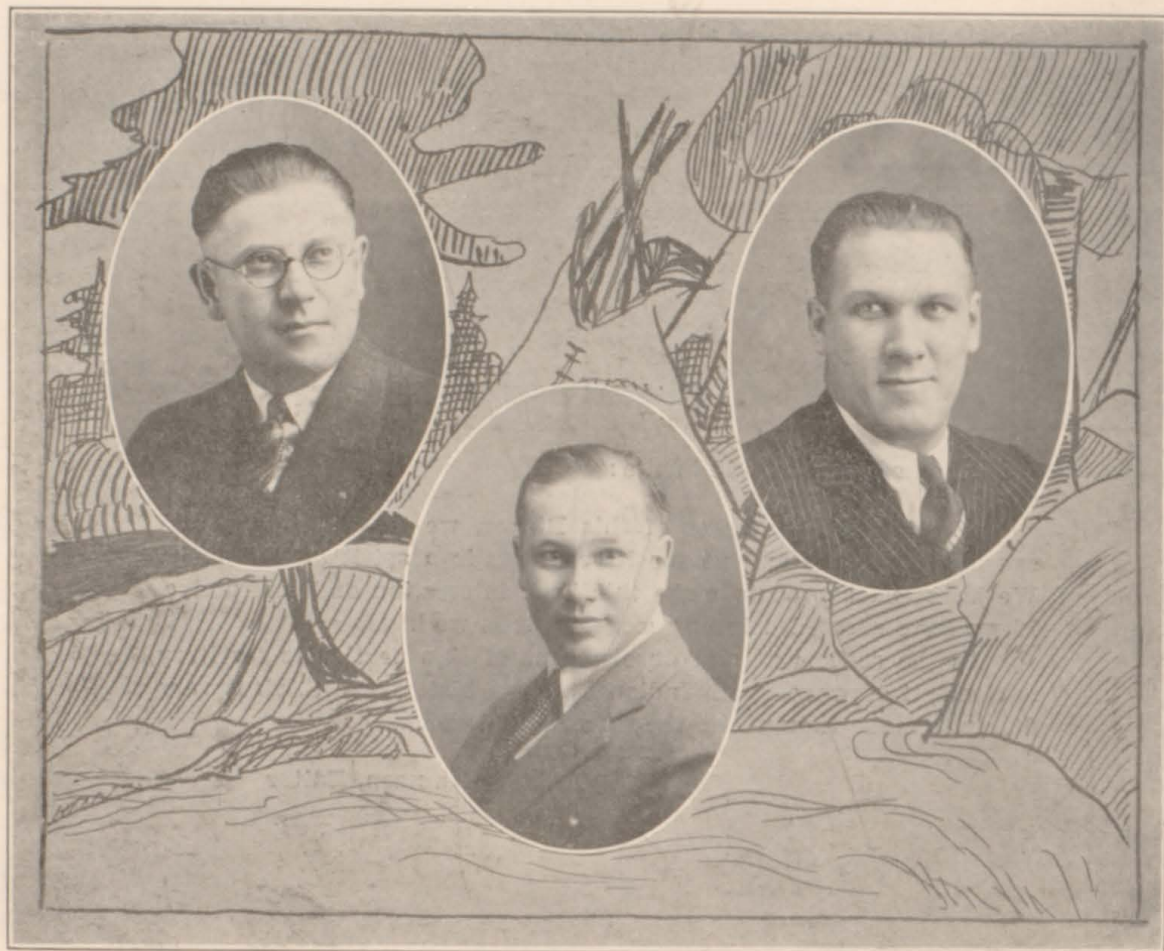

Friends of the Red and White:

As you turn the pages of this Ripper, we trust that you will overlook its faults and persue its contents in a spirit of kindness. We have endeavored to make this book interesting and instructive. If we have succeeded in any measure, it is well.

As the settlement and development of this particular territory is closely interwoven with Indian Life and history, we think it very fitting to make Indian Life the theme of this book.

"MARY'S MILLIONS"

Presented by the Senior Class

at the

Seymour Auditorium, May , 1927

A comedy drama in three acts by Frederick Johnson

A quiet New England village is all agog over the arrival of a pair of fortune hunters claiming to be titled foreigners, who scheme to get possession of "Mary's Millions". Their wily efforts to gain control of the fortune set into action the age-old conflict between crafty sophistication and rugged honesty and start a rapid train of complications. In the final scene, however, the millions are restored to their rightful possessor and the course of true love again runs smoothly.

SEASON'S RECORD IN BASKETBALL

Prospects for a good basket ball team looked very bright on Nov. 2, 1926, when Coach Rohloff issued a call for candidates for the team. Twenty men reported with about seven of these having seen action some time during the year before. Captain Huth and "Bob" Miller, two letter men from last year, reported, around which Coach Rohloff started building his team. "Lady Luck" did not seem to be with the Red and White this season though, for during the year, due to scholastic trouble and injuries, our team lost her good men at the critical time and prevented us from having a championship team.

The first game of the season was played Nov. 19 with Suring, in which the Red and White triumphed by a score of 32 to 14. Both teams showed many weaknesses in this initial game, but good basket shooting by Ness and Miller put us on the long end of the score. Possibilities of a strong team were shown in this game.

Seymour journeyed to Kimberly Nov. 22, and took the Kimberly team into camp by a score of 22 to 8. The Red and White didn't seem to get started the first half and the score was 4 all. The second half started with Capt. Huth, Ness and Miller finding the basket quite regularly, and put us away out in front.

On December 3 we met the strong Pulaski team on our floor and won by the score of 20 to 17. The game was close throughout, the score at the half being 12 all. In the second half the Red and White defense tightened and enabled Capt. Huth's team to win. Kollath and Ness showed up well in this game.

Capt. Huth's men met the old grads on December 10 and proceeded to win by a 36 to 20 score. The game was fast throughout but the grads showed the effects of not being in training and this enabled the youngsters to win. Stammer, Melter and Bauman played good ball for the Alumni, while Capt. Huth was the whole show for the High School, getting eight baskets.

The return game with Pulaski was played December 17, and a royal battle was staged. The locals showed ability to come back in this game as they were beat 12 to 3 at the end of the first half. At the beginning of the second half, baskets by Miller and Huth put us back in the running, and the final basket by Capt. Huth gave us an 18 to 16 victory. Ohlrogge, replacing Freiman who was injured in the Alumni game, played good ball for the Red and White.

East Green Bay was played on December 21 and the Red and White got their first setback. The score at the half was all in favor of the Bayites 6 to 0. In the second half the Red and White were able to hold their own but the final score was 14 to 8. Freiman played a good game at both defense and offense.

On January 6 Kimberly played their return game here and lost by a score of 54 to 4. Kimberly fought gamely but it was no use as their opponents, the Red and White, were too good. Miller was the shining light of the local team, getting fourteen baskets. Every man on the squad was given a chance to play.

The Red and White entertained the fast Hortonville team on January 14, and beat them 22 to 12. The game started with teams playing a close defensive game. The score at the half was 10 to 3. In the second half both teams opened up with a flashy offensive. Capt. Mace was the star of the Hortonville team, while Capt. Huth, Miller and Decker played good ball for Seymour.

New London entertained Seymour on January 21 and proceeded to hand the Red and White their second lacing of the season. Both teams produced a flashy offense and scored many points during the game, the final score being 35 to 21. Dernback was the whole show for New London while Ness and Decker played a good game for Seymour.

Brillion journeyed here January 26 and beat us by a score of 18 to 16. Inability to shoot free throws lost us the chance to win as we missed 8 out of 10 chances. Thomas and Capt. Schwabe were the stars for Brillion, while Ness and Decker played good ball for Seymour. Incidentally, Brillion was one of the teams to be selected for the district tournament.

In one of the fastest games witnessed during the season, New London beat us

TRACK

When coach Rohloff called for track candidates a large group responded, but there was a lack of experienced men. Not one of the men had done any real work in track. As there were no letter men for the 1926 team, Rohloff was confronted by a very serious problem.

On May 3, outdoor practice began, and the first meet was held May 14.

The meet proved very successful to Seymour and several first places were copped by our men. The final scores of the meet were: Gillett, 61; Seymour, 31; Hortonville, 18; and Pulaski, 5.

Brennan for Seymour, won the 50 yard dash and placed second in the pole vault. Frieman won the 440 yard dash and placed second in the broad jump. Bauman won the half mile for the red and white, and Huth, Ness, Miller, and Decker copped second places in the events in which they participated.

The season was as successful as could be hoped for under the circumstances. A good team of experienced men will answer in this year's track season and our chance for gaining the cup offered is much brighter this year than in the past year.

SONGS AND YELLS

Then here's dear old Seymour to you,
 May we ever be loyal and true;
 Loudly our praises we sing,
 Through all Wisconsin may they ring;
 And all through our lives may we recall
 The place we love best of all.
 And here's dear old Seymour to you,
 Our red and white,
 Our red and white,
 Our red and white forever.

Let our voices blend together,
 Echo far and near
 Songs of praise to thee we render,
 Songs of love and cheer.

Seymour! Seymour! Hail to thee,
 Thou hast been kind to us,
 Songs of praise to thee we render,
 Songs of love and cheer.

All the days we've been together
 Fondly we recall,
 Days of fair and stormy weather
 Thou hast gladdened all.

Rip saw, Buck saw,
 Rip saw Bang!
 We belong to the Seymour gang.
 Are we in it? Well I guess,
 We're the students of S. H. S.

S-S-S-e-y M-M-o-u-r

 Boom-a-lac-a, Boom-a-lac-a, Bow wow wow!
 Are we in it? Well I guess
 Seymour High School, Yes! Yes! Yes!

Happy Hooligan, Gloomy Gus,
 What the duece is the matter with us?
 Nothing at all, nothing at all!
 We play Basketball, that's all!

Rickety Rackety Riss,
 We're not allowed to hiss,
 But nevertheless, we must confess
 There's nothing the matter with S. H. S.

SCHOOL EVENTS

- SEPT. 13 First Senior Meeting. New officers were elected.
- SEPT. 14 First Sophomore and Junior Meeting. New officers were elected.
- SEPT. 17 The Sewing Club was organized under the supervision of Miss Olive Van Vuren.
- SEPT. 22 First Boys Glee Club practice. Mackie Miller also tried out for Girls Glee Club. He proved unsatisfactory.
- SEPT. 23 First Orchestra Practice. Membership has increased from eleven to twenty-five.
- SEPT. 26 First Freshman Meeting. New officers were elected.
- SEPT. 27 First Girls Glee Club practice. One of the girls trying out for alto sang second bass.
- OCT. 4 First Boys Basket Ball Meeting. According to the looks and actions of some of the members, we ought to have a peppy team.
- OCT. 5 Seniors began the study of Chaucer in the Midland dialect. After many groans and sighs they plowed through.
- OCT. 6 Juniors ordered class rings. Suppose they patronized the nearest Metropolis.
- OCT. 8 First Lyceum Division gave a program. Colling's oration was a knock-out.
- OCT. 11 Members of the Orchestra received banners, arm bands, pencils and caps to sell to raise funds. Suppose they will be selling tin cups next.
- OCT. 12 First Lyceum Course Entertainment was given at the City Auditorium.
- OCT. 15 During the lyceum program Harry Moeller kept the school in an uproar while reading his essay, "A Trip to California." If the mule he rode upon could be purchased, the Seniors would draw lots and take the trip.
- OCT. 18 Bruzzy made his daily trip to the waste basket with his gum, taking a fresh chew on his return trip.
- OCT. 20 The girls made a grand rush for the new cloak room. Some of them like it so well that they spend most of their time in it.
- OCT. 22 Accident!!! Poor Cuby, from the effects of his history lesson, lost his balance and fell on the floor in the History Room. He makes many graceful movements.
- OCT. 28 The second number of the Lyceum Course for this season.
- NOV. 3 All the students gave a cheering yell when it was announced in the assembly that there would be no school until Monday, Nov. 8, because of the teachers convention at Milwaukee. Hope the teachers don't get Lost?
- NOV. 9 The assembly got a (kick) out of the music period when they sang, "When the Red Red Robin Comes Bob-Bob Bobbin' Along," instead of "Old Black Joe."

RIPPER

- NOV. 10 All the classes held a meeting to elect representatives to try out for cheer leaders for the season.
- NOV. 11 Evangeline Mills and Malcolm Knutzen are the cheer leaders. There will be more than music in the air this year.
- NOV. 12 Found!!! Brass bar pin, set with green diamonds. Owner has not been found. Seniors will auction it off at the end of the year.
- NOV. 16 Students leaped for the door when the alarm clock rang, thinking it was the fire alarm.
- NOV. 17 Juniors gave movie, "The Vanishing American." Suppose they will meet some installments with the proceeds.
- NOV. 18 Snowing—That's about all.
- NOV. 19 Basket Ball Team entertained our Ma's and Pa's with a victorious game. Score—Suring 13, Seymour 32.
- NOV. 22 Boys peppy team took a trip to Kimberly. Came home victorious, had little guys to play with. Score 8 to 20.
- NOV. 23 Our professor had to leave for the hospital. Some have a forlorn look as they gaze at the vacant chair. Don't worry Prof., everything is O K here.
- NOV. 24 All departed for a feast. Some, as usual, exerted themselves.
- NOV. 29 Most of us returned, able to resume our duties.
- NOV. 30 Seniors organized a daily procession which takes place during the first and second periods, when they journey to English Class.
- DEC. 1 "Kootie" made another corner in the main room (on high). If he ever hits the blackboard, he'll make it (on low).
- DEC. 3 Basket Ball Team made their third victory when they defeated Pulaski. The score was 17 to 20. Pulaski thought Seymour's aim was "Stop for Nothing" before the game ended.
- DEC. 6 Wow!!! Seniors had a grand and glorious time on their sleigh ride party to Culbertsons. No serious results.
- DEC. 10 Basket Ball Team defeated the Alumni. The score was 20 to 36. Kimberly had a game scheduled with our team but could not come on account of the road conditions.
- DEC. 13 Junior Carnival and Dance. A stormy night, inside and out. Their liabilities exceeded their assets. Cheer up Juniors, you'll make net proceeds on your public Prom.
- DEC. 17 Gone to hang our socks for Santa to find. We hope he does not pass by them without leaving some (nick-nack).
- DEC. 17 Boys team went to Pulaski and returned victorious. The score was 16 to 18. In spite of the prevailing ill spirit during the game, the Seymour boys were fortunate to arrive home uninjured.
- DEC. 21 East Green Bay blew into the city with a "breezy" team and defeated the Seymour boys. The score was 8 to 14.
- JAN. 3 Everyone returned ready to resume their duties after spending an enjoyable Christmas vacation.
- JAN. 6 Boys team defeated Kimberly's "tiny" team, and exhibited to all spectators a Mutt and Jeff game. The score was 4 to 54.

RIPPER

JAN. 7 Many had a nightmare after seeing a ghost and superstitious characters in "The Bells of Normandy," which was presented by the Tooley Lyceum Company. The students were greatly amused when told by a member of the company that "Yes, We Have No Bananas" is the most popular selection of today.

JAN. 10 Senior Masquerade! Great Success! To the tune of "Tiny's Uptown Orchestra," the maskers danced. The evening's entertainment furnished fun for all, and at the same time proved a tremendous financial success.

JAN. 11 Professor Axley, recovering from a several week's siege of sickness, was welcomed back to school.

JAN. 21 Boy's team journeyed to New London and were defeated by a score of 21 to 35. One of the New London players tried to wreck the time-keeper's watch to make the game shorter, because the Seymour team was rapidly catching up to them.

JAN. 24 Many breathed a sigh of relief when the exam papers from the first semester were returned with passing grades.

JAN. 28 The Fifth Division program was very interesting. The outstanding feature was Herbie Hansen's solo "Roses of Picardy." New officers were elected for Lyceum. A group of classy looking fellows from Brillion created more than excitement when they came to the city and defeated the Boy's team.

FEB. 1 Some of the students began to act as if they had "Spring Fever."

FEB. 2 Ground Hog saw his shadow. He must be living near S. H.

FEB. 10 Many changed their seats but not because they wanted to.

FEB. 11 Ten seats were removed from the assembly. The orchestra will have plenty of room to swing their hands and feet now. New London came to town and defeated the Boys' team. Score 21 to 22. The game was one of the most interesting of the season.

FEB. 14 Valentine Dance! Given by the Sophomore Class. The hall was beautiful, and the affair was a credit to the class.

FEB. 15 "Dixie Flyer" presented at the auditorium by the "Ripper Staff". The school orchestra furnished music and made their first public appearance. No wonder they were so solemn.

FEB. 18 Boys' team, accompanied by some lady friends, journeyed to Hortonville. The team did not return victorious but reported a good time.

FEB. 23 Boys' team played an elimination game with the Weyauwega team at Neenah. A stray kitten accompanied the team home and kept the boys in good humor. By the way, we were eliminated.

FEB. 24 Last number of the Lyceum Course of this season.

FEB. 25 Boys' team defeated Bear Creek. The game was the last of the season.

FEB. 28 Near East Relief representative acquainted us with facts concerning the starving Armenians. A Freshman Balloon Dance. Balloons may furnish amusement for more than the "little" tots.

MAR. 2 A Japanese visited the school and gave a humorous speech, while contrasting characteristics of the Japs and Americans.

RIPPER

- MAR. 11 Summer dresses begin the season's fling. Track men started limbering up on the discus and shot. Oh boy, it's been a long winter.
- MAR. 15 Junior Class presented "The Four Horsemen," this being their second successful movie. They will need an extra bank account.
- MAR. 21 Bring back your woolen socks girls. It is spring, but more like winter.
- MAR. 22 Athletic play "Adventures of Grandpa," natural characteristics portrayed by members of the cast made the play very humorous. It was enjoyed by a large audience. Orchestra appeared again.
- MAR. 23 Poor Betty! Left her diamond on over night and had to secure help from the janitor and all his tools to remove it.
- MAR. 25 Storms come, storms go. We won't welcome this one; we've had plenty snow.
- APR. 1 Annual Declamatory and Oratorical Contests. First places were awarded to Alice Taggart and William Shier; second places to Erma Mielke and Claude Huth.
- APR. 4 New High School Band started under the direction of Mr. Forrest. Twenty members reported. Will not be so good this year, but wait until next year.
- APR. 8 League contest at Auditorium. Seymour was not victorious, but has good prospects for the future. Claude Huth took third. Orchestra again showed they are capable of entertaining the crowd.
- APR. 12 Junior movie "Collen Moore" in "Ella Cinders." Seniors expect a glorious prom from the proceeds.
- APR. 13 Free puppet show, "Know Naught," was presented in high school assembly.
- APR. 15 Begin Easter vacation. A short but sweet one.
- APR. 20 Return eager to complete duties for the remaining school year.
- MAY 1 Ripper out. Now we must face the selling proposition.
- MAY 5 Junior Prom! Big success! The hall was decorated very beautifully. The Seniors felt highly honored.
- MAY 10-12 Senior Class Play! "Mary's Millions." Enjoyed by a very large audience.
- MAY 29 Baccalaureate Sermon given by Rev. Knutzen at the M. E. Church.
- MAY 31 Class Day Exercises. Hope the mementos please everyone.
- JUNE 2 Commencement Exercises. Prof. E. G. Doudna of the University of Wisconsin speaks. This spells finis for this school year, and for the seniors.

LITERARY

A Peaceful Evening

Harry Tannon, a young business man from Galveston, Texas, was reading his evening newspaper at his apartment in the City Hotel. He was reading the account of the hideous murder in another hotel of the same city. The murder had taken place several evenings ago. Harry was tired after a hard days work at the office.

The lock in the door clicked. A young man stood before him with masked face. "Hello Harry," spoke the visitor.

Harry was so surprised he could not answer. Who could this person be who knew him. Surely not a friend of his because why would a friend of his want to wear a mask.

"Don't get so scared, I won't hurt you," went on the visitor.

"Take off that mask so I can see who you are," replied Harry.

"Now don't tell me what to do. See this? You know what it can do," and Harry's visitor stuck the revolver in his face.

"Harry's nerves were getting the best of him. He said, "For Heaven's sake tell me what you want and get out of here!"

"Now, now, remember you're not to tell me what to do. Instead, I'll tell you what to do. Sit down in that chair! Hurry! Now, I've something to tell you. Remember last night at the Masquerade Ball. You told me you'd rather give everything you owned rather than be tortured to death as that man was a few nights ago. Well, I've decided that you don't amount to very much on this earth and your money would come in mighty handy to me, so I thought I'd get both."

"I never told you that!" interrupted the excited Harry.

"Calm yourself Harry," went on the visitor, "Now I'll tell you what I want you to do. I want you to open that safe. Go on, do it right away. Put all that money in this box. Now I want you to write on this paper just why you killed yourself. When the police find you up here they'll find you with this revolver in your hand and this confession on the table and they'll immediately think it was suicide. Write just what I tell you!"

Harry's hand was trembling so that he could not hold the pencil. He dropped it but picked it up again when he felt the revolver against his back. Knowing that he was going to be killed was too much for Harry. He dropped to his knees before the stranger and begged for mercy. He pleaded for his life. He promised the stranger anything he would ask for. He wouldn't even try to find him after he had gone.

The stranger was getting what he wanted—the promise of not being pursued. He said to Harry, "A promise is a promise. Give me all that money. If I find you can keep your promise no harm will come to you, but if you don't, well all I can say is that you'll be sorry."

With that Harry's unwelcome visitor backed to the door, bade Harry good night, and was gone.

Harry was too astonished to move. He realized he had lost a great deal of money which represented many years of hard saving. What was that? The telephone ringing? He sat up suddenly. The sun was already high up in the sky. What, had he fallen asleep while reading his paper and slept in the chair all night? That's just what he did. He answered the telephone. One of his business friends was calling him to ask if he intended to sleep all day. Losing his money had been all a dream.

A Jesse James Story

During the stirring times in the Indian territory in Oklahoma around 1880, I was a fragile looking girl of ten years. My youngest brother was nine and he and I were often sent to hunt lost calves in the valley where we lived. We had many adventures but the supreme adventure of our lives came one spring just as the prairies were beginning to awaken to life.

The day was dull and the air chill. I was riding a horse that once had been a good race horse. She had been trained to start by squatting and giving a long jump. My brother came riding up behind me and my horse thought a race was on. So squatting and giving a jump, she left me sitting, none too comfortably, in the road. As usual, on such trips, I wore my brother's clothes. My hair was wound around and a cap was pulled down to hold it in place.

The Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad ran over the Ganes River and through a cut entering the valley from the north, and we were nearing this end of the valley when we saw that something was happening to the "Katy Flier" that had just come through the cut. The Katy Flier was one of the wonder trains of that time. It usually went through the valley so fast that it was just a gray smoke cloud. As I looked I saw the engine back the cars onto the bridge, then cut loose and run down the valley a half-mile.

"It's a hold-up, sis, a hold-up!" my brother suddenly burst out. Follow me and we'll see this thing at close range and they can't see us." We entered the woods and skirted the edge of the valley, climbed the hill, tied the horses in a clump of trees near the path, crept to the top of the cut and looked down on the most unusual scene. There were only three robbers but they seemed to be handling the situation in a methodical and thoroughly expert way. Soon they had fastened a box and some mail sacks on the saddles of two horses. Still covering the train crew and passengers with their guns they wheeled their horses around and started away. We saw that the robbers would round the edge of the cut and come right by our horses. We had been spellbound: now we were terror-stricken. We reached our horses and mounted in no time, and brother said with white lips, "Lay the quirt to that horse and ride for your life." He put the spurs to his horse and bounded away like a flash. My horse, of course, thought a race was on and I was too frightened to remember to hang on. So when she ducked and jumped she left me sitting in the road very much jolted. Then I noticed the robbers coming up the road with the speed of the wind.

Fear froze me to the spot; I was unable to move a muscle. They were upon me—the first two horses carrying the loot snorted and with a bound jumped clear over me. Each time I expected to be trampled to death under powerful feet. The third horse was quite a distance behind these two. Its rider held a pistol in his hand and I saw that he was looking intently at me. I supposed, of course, that he meant to kill me, and I gave myself up for lost.

Suddenly he slipped from the saddle, looked down at me crouching there and said, in the kindest voice: "Say kid, are you hurt?" At the sound of his voice the power to move came back to me. I got to my feet but in doing so the cap fell off my head and a shower of hair fell around me. He opened his eyes as if in amazement and said softly as if to himself, "Confound my soul, if it ain't a girl—and such a head of hair."

I was more frightened than ever for a vision of brutal treatment at the hands of this robber came before me, and I resolved to run when I saw my brother coming at top speed leading my horse. He was afraid too, poor kid; I can see his little thin blue lips yet, but on he came. The robber questioned me: "Where do you live and what are you doing here?" I pointed across the valley to a thin streak of smoke that rose from our home, and told him we had been sent to hunt lost calves, and that my horse had thrown me. "There is my brother with my horse now," I said nervously.

The robber picked me up and put me on my horse, gave me the reins and said, "See if you can stick on now, and you had better go home." And we did!

The next evening my brother and I were huddled together on the kindling box behind the stove, listening to our father read about the daring hold-up by the James boys the day before in which they had escaped with forty million dollars in money and all the registered mail. The place was found where they divided the loot, and left what they didn't want of the mail.

Brother put his little freckled face against my shoulder and whispered: "Sjs, I sure thought they had you." I whispered back: "What would you have done if they'd taken me?" I always will have a feeling of pride and love when I think of the fierce determination in his little face and the sincerity in his voice as he answered: "I'd have been follerin' 'em yet!"

EFFORTS OF AN AMATEUR

Last night I sat 'till ten o'clock
Trying to make some verses rhyme.
Truly 'twas the hardest task
I had ever attempted at any time.

I thought, "Tomorrow is Monday
And, if this is not complete
A zero I will surely get,
'Tis no unusual feat."

I sat and thought and thought some more,
I chewed my pencil, too.
The words were wrong—they would not rhyme.
Oh, I was in a terrible "stew."

At last in greatest desperation
I thought a final thought;
Seized my pencil, grabbed some paper.
This is what I wrote:

"Longfellow was a poet great
And so was Edgar Allen Poe;
But they were born to poets be
With me—I fear it is not so."

THE NEW YEAR

Merrily the bells ring out
On the glad New Year,
Welcome with many a joyful shout
And happy, gleeful cheer.

This night is full of happiness,
Good times do prevail,
Many are jokes and happy jests,
Accompanied by wine and ale.

So the New Year does begin
Amid parties and dances galore
Noise and laughter, fun and din,
But sorrows are always in store.

Little do we think of all that is to be,
Sorrows, joys, tears and strife;
From them we sometimes try to flee,
But they are true to life.

IMAGINATION

'Twas a summer day in December;
I was on my way to school.
The mud was shining in the sky;
The sun lay in a pool.

I saw a cow-slip through a fence,
A horse-fly by the door.
The little fish had gone to roost,
I thought "forever-more!"

The flowers were singing sweetly,
The birds were all in bloom.
I saw a board-walk by the door,
A stone-step in the room.

I finally reached the school house,
Went down stairs to get in the attic;
I took a front seat in the back row;
This sounds like a lot of static!

If this poem doesn't puncture your brain
By wondering where's the relation,
Remember I said at first
'Twas all just imagination.

WINTER SPORTING

On a day that was bright and still,
We went to have some fun on the hill;
Some took their sleds and others their skiis,
And all dressed warmly so we wouldn't freeze.

At the top of the hill we started in state
With a sled that held exactly eight;
And stopped at the bottom in a short while,
Having gone about one half mile.

One little girl did not slide as you'd suppose,
But left the sled and slid on her nose;
Two other girls helped her up and said,
"We wish to thank you for the ride on your head."

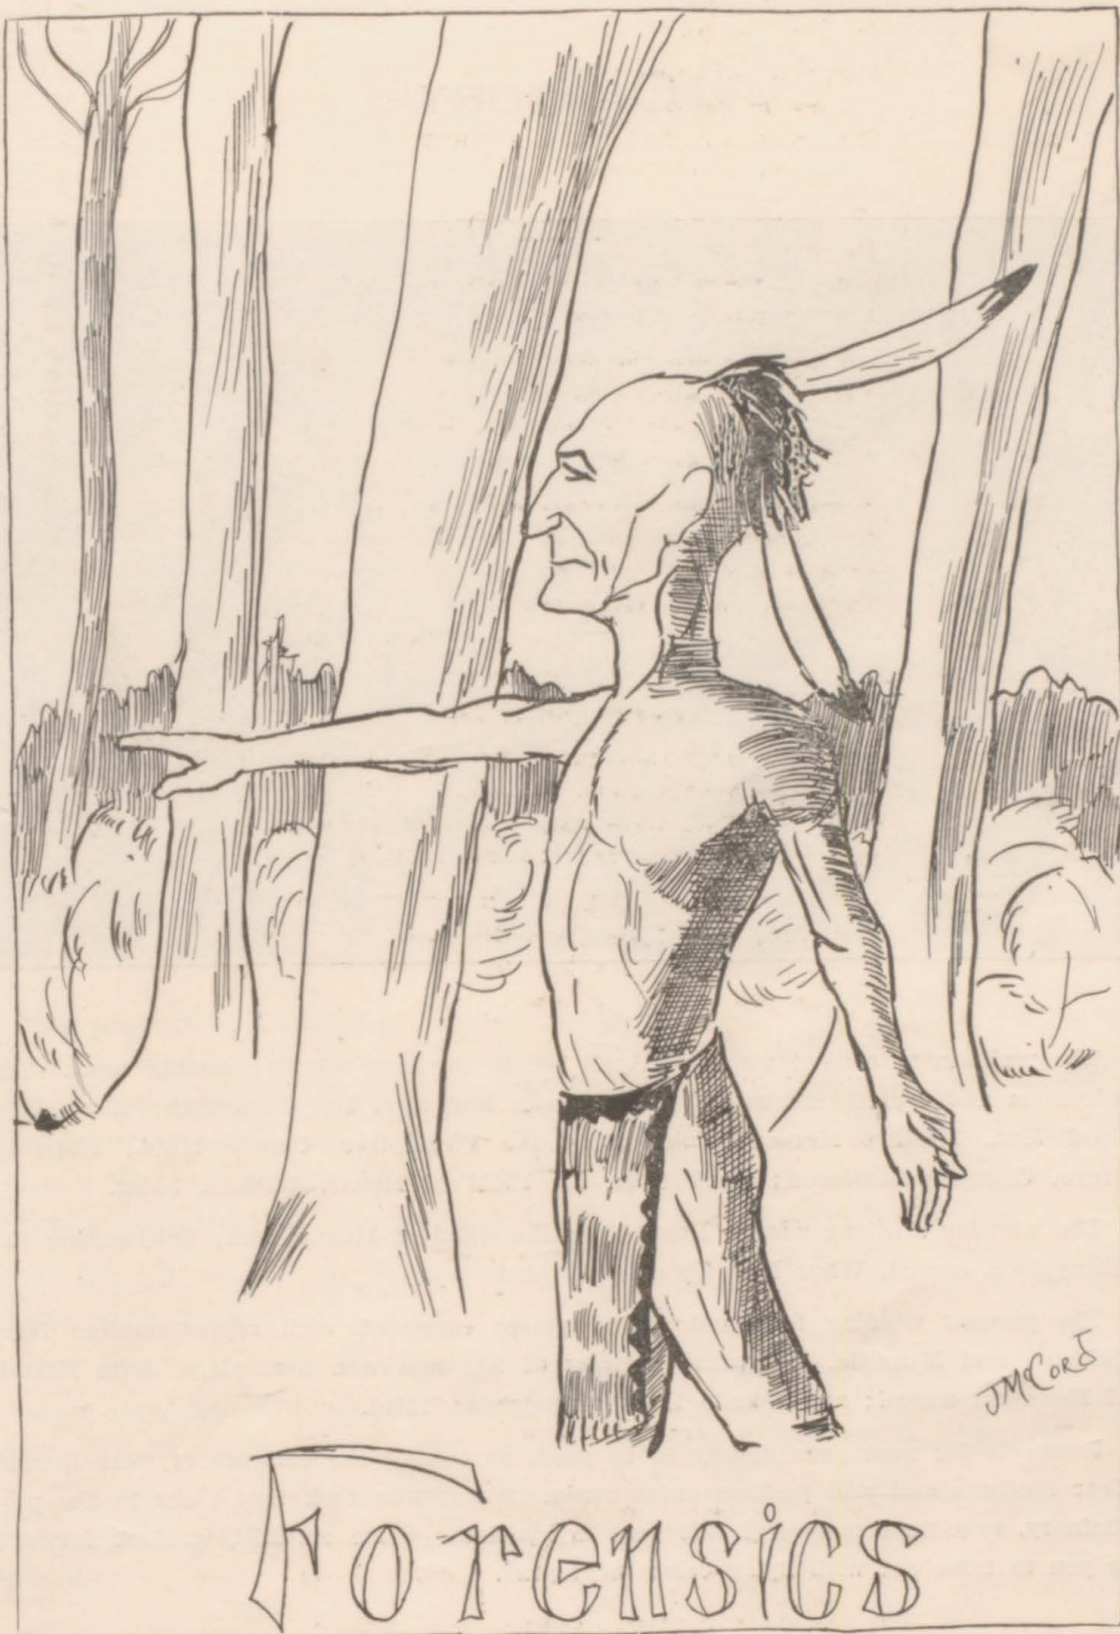

On a field nearby is the steepest hill 'round,
And here most all the best skiiers are found.
Tiring of sliding we took our skiis,
And thought we would try our skill with these.

One boy, who is a Senior in High,
Left his skiis and seemed to sail through the sky,
Diving head foremost into two feet of snow,
Looking for something which I do not know.

One little lad, whose age is eight,
We all decided, took the cake;
For he could skii from the top of the highest hill,
And always reach the bottom without a spill.

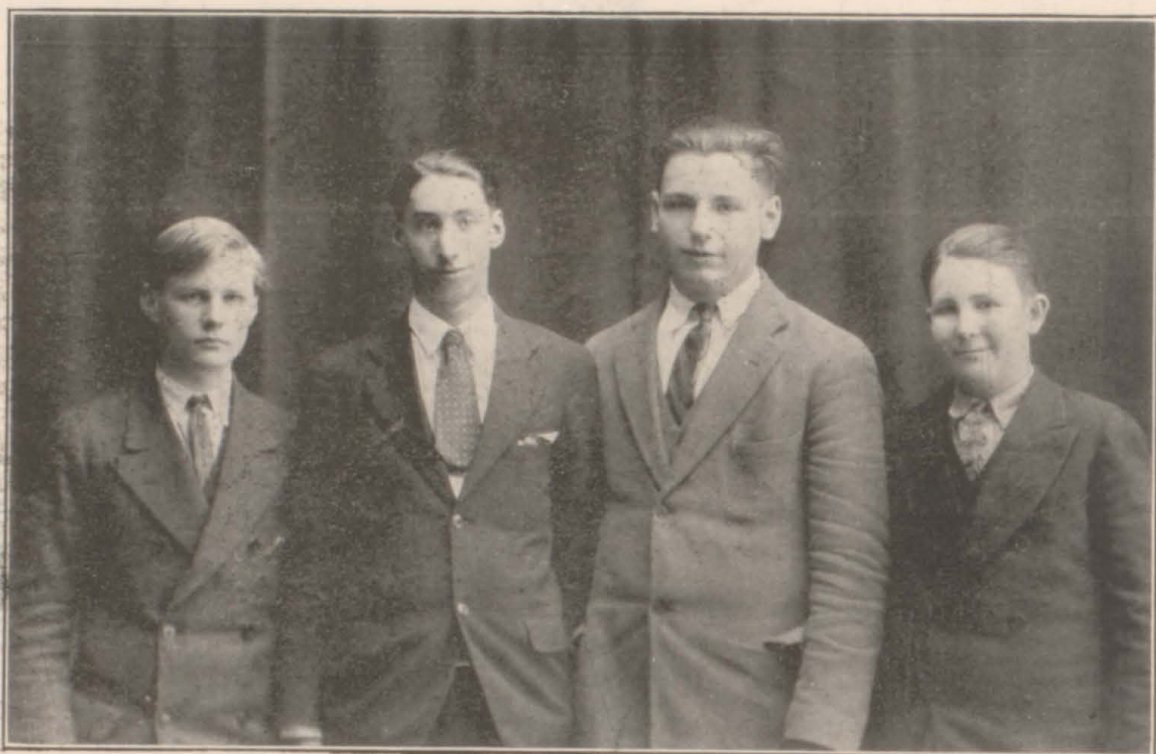

So scratched, scarred, bruised and lame,
At sundown we joyfully homeward came—
And if you'd like to get a thrill
We invite you to go with us to Slab City Hill.

ORATORY

The preliminary contest was held April 1st. in the high school assembly room. The selections and contestants were: The Lincoln Highway, Ira Culbertson; What Is a Good Man, Herbert Hansen; Subjugating the Philippines, Claude Huth; Hope of Peace, Clarence Brownson; Dead Upon the Field of Honor, William Shier.

The winning orations were: Dead Upon the Field of Honor, first; Subjugating the Philippines, second, What Is a Good Man, third.

The persons winning first and second places competed with representatives from Shiocton and Menasha. Raymond Stewart of Shiocton won first place, John Nowak of Menasha, second; and Claude Huth of Seymour, third.

Prospects for next year appear to be good, as two of the contestants were Second Year students and will perhaps enter again. Shier, who took first place in the preliminary, is a Sophomore and this year is his first. Come on, Bill, we look forward to you to come out with flying colors next year.

DECLAMATORY

The preliminary declamatory contest was held April 1st. in the Seymour Auditorium. The declamations and contestants were: Number Six, Rosella Thompson; Penrod's Affliction, Beatrice Hogle; They Grind Exceedingly Small, Alice Snell; Dog of Flanders, Alice Hill; Madame Butterfly, Alice Taggart; Little Sister Snow, Virginia Taggart; Angel's Wickedness, Erma Mielke; His Flag, Eunice Clough; Mon Pierre, Bell Fiedler; Greater Love Hath No Man, Mildred Brady; Crazy Tom, Florence Doersch.

In this contest Madame Butterfly won first place, Angel's Wickedness second, and Little Sister Snow, third.

The persons who won first and second places represented the school in a second contest competing with students from Menasha and Shiocton. The first two places were won by representatives from Menasha and third place went to Shiocton.

Seymour has some very able representatives who will represent Seymour next year. We expect better success next year although we failed to win a place in the contest this year.

The History of Lyceum

The Lyceum society was organized for many reasons. It was organized to develop a taste for good literature in the students. By means of the various forms of selections, much useful knowledge is conveyed. Many individuals attending high school have never had an opportunity to try their ability at public speaking. Lyceum helps them to overcome self-consciousness and to discover their powers in a forensic line. By the business meetings of the Lyceum, the students are taught also the correct method of parliamentary procedure.

The society of Lyceum was organized about thirty years ago. It was first organized as a debating club, having a voluntary membership of about one-fourth of the students of the high school. Frequent programmes, open to the general public, were held in the Odd Fellows hall. Members of the Alumni participated in these programmes, adding interest to them. The programme consisted of debates between the Alumni and high school members and of selected features taken from the Friday afternoon rhetorical. At first these programmes, being a novelty in the community, were well attended, but later, when the public interest abated, and the Alumni ceased to respond to requests to participate, the public meetings had to be discontinued on account of the lack of attendance.

After the discontinuation of the public meetings, Lyceum was held on Friday evenings in the high school assembly room. However, because of a great deal of each program was composed of parts of the afternoon rhetorical, the interest of the high school students was lacking. To meet this difficulty, the school board decided to require membership in Lyceum and to discontinue the rhetorical formerly held on Friday afternoons. Thus, the appearances of Lyceum programmes served to supply the required rhetorical. Later, when basket ball was introduced, the time of Lyceum was changed from Friday to Monday evenings.

The members of the Lyceum were divided into four divisions; then, as the members increased, to five and six, each division having a chairman to arrange the programmes. Later a teacher was assigned to each division to approve selections and to hear the rehearsals of the members.

The officers of the society are a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, who are elected twice a year, at the end of each semester.

Each member pays twenty-five cents on entering the society and ten cents a year thereafter. A fine of five cents is imposed on persons failing to appear when on a program. The funds thus collected are used to buy papers, magazines and books for the school library and for paying the student librarians.

The Lecture Course Entertainments are also sponsored by the Lyceum, and a committee attends to the distribution of advertising material.

This year, owing to the objections of some of the citizens of the community, the time of the Lyceum programmes was changed again. They are now held every Friday afternoon in the high school assembly room. Since the enlargement of the assembly room, however, it is very difficult to hear the selections in all parts of the room, and some other system must be introduced or Lyceum will have to be permanently discontinued.

Organizations

ORCHESTRA

Director, Leland K. Forrest

OFFICERS

President, Malcolm Knutzen	Sec. & Treas., Milton Sachs
Vice-Pres., Maurice Barclay	Librarian, Leon Schultz
Sec. & Treas., Milton Keune	Manager, Frank Wolk

The orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. Forrest, has grown from ten members of last year, to over twenty-five this year. Their organization practices faithfully twice a week and does much towards pepping up our school. The orchestra played for the Farmers Institute and several movies, and will play for all the graduation events at the end of the year. Our flute player, Milton Keune, has been gone most of this year doing Lyceum work. However, he will be back again next year. We are sorry to lose Malcolm Knutzen, Claude Huth and Alfred Holz by graduation, but prospects are good for next year's orchestra.

4-H CLUB

Leader, Olive Van Vuren

President, Fern Falck Secretary, Rogene Falck

Treasurer, Evelyn Hallada

This year marks the initial appearance of the 4-H Club in our school. The purpose of this club is to further domestic science, that is, in regard to the making of garments, selection of material, and the style of clothes best suited to different types of people. This club was organized by Olive Van Vuren, and is a national club under the supervision of the state. The 4 Hs signify hand, health, heart and head. By the end of this year the members will have completed a year of required sewing. Each year achievement pins are awarded to members who have completed the required work. We hope to have every member receive a pin.

MEMBERS

Olive Van Vuren, Beverly Beckman, Mary Leavitt, Fern Falck, Alice Snell, Mildred Lembcke, Evelyn Hallada, Olive Beckman, Florence Reed, Carol Rose, Letha Veitch, Caroline Walch, Shirley Waite, Rogene Falck, Thresa La Marche, Joyce Jensen, Ellen Reed, Mildred Brady, Alice Rose, Alice Miller, Millicent Muehl, Shirley Dean, Eunice Stein, Eunice Ohlrogge and Elizabeth Beckman

LETTER CLUB

1927
OFFICERS

President, Robert Miller
Treasurer, Claude Huth

Vice-President, Horace Freiman
Honorary Advisor, Mr. Rohloff

The Letter Club was organized in the fall of the year 1926, by Mr. Rohloff. It is a club organized for the purpose of promoting athletics. The present laws do not allow girls and boys who have not obtained letters, other than basket ball or track,

This is the first club of its kind appearing in this school. It is small, but very alert for the purpose of improving athletics. Basket ball or track letters obtained from the coach signify admittance whether from any class in school. The Letter Club's important task is to get the public and the student body interested in athletics into the club.

MEMBERS

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Athletic Association was organized in the fall of the year 1921, and has been doing wonderful work in the way of promoting athletics ever since.

This association is formed for the promotion of athletics and school spirit. All the pupils in the school take an active part in this organization, and, as a result, the athletics are much more advanced and more interesting than they would otherwise be.

The officers of the first Athletic Association were as follows: President, Wyman Huettl; Secretary, Ruth Carter; Vice-President, Genevieve Lotter; Treasurer, Alvin Huth.

Each year the Athletic Association gives a play, the proceeds being used for the benefit of the organization. The cast of these plays is chosen from the students in High School.

This year's play was coached by Miss Francis Hadley, of the local High School. The title of the play was "The Adventures of Grandpa." This play was a three-act comedy, very well given, and proved to be very successful. It was very largely attended by the public, who expressed their entire satisfaction. The cast was as follows:

CAST

Montgomery Ray (Monte), Grandpa's Grandson	-----	Harold Brennan
Tod Hunter, a young dancing master	-----	Malcolm Knutzen
Otis Hammerhead (Grandpa), from Yellow Bud, Ohio	-----	Gordon Ohlogge
Officer McCormick, who seen his duty and done it	-----	Ronald Decker
Lucy Hunter, our little wife	-----	Virginia Taggart
Dorothy May, just out of college	-----	Bessie Stewart
Mrs. Pansy Hopscotch, fair, fat and forty	-----	Betty Silverwood
Marie Ribeau, the girl from Paris	-----	Ione Stammer
Kloompy, twelve days from Copenhagen over	-----	Alice Hill

Each year the Athletic Association is reorganized and the Freshmen, who are entering school, are admitted. Officers are elected from the student body of the High School, once a year, at the beginning of the September session. The officers chosen for 1926-1927 were: President, Milton Keune, Secretary and Treasurer, James Hallada.

A New Meaning

FOR

S. H. S.

To every boy and girl who has attended Seymour High School during the many years of its existence, "S. H. S." has stood as a symbol of higher ideals and the better things of life. To this meaning we wish to suggest another:

S—for Serve

H—for Have

S—for Save

It means simply that those who serve well are paid well and that those who earn should save. Keep this in mind during your school days by starting an account here.

JENKIN'S CAFE, Seymour

on our home floor February 11, by the score of 22 to 21. The free throw again beat us, as we had 12 chances from the foul line and only scored 4. Cooley, Hetzer and Beckert played good games for New London as did Capt. Huth and Decker for Seymour. We might also add that New London was chosen for the district tournament and won second place.

On February 18 the S. H. S. played the return game with Hortonville and lost 21 to 14. Seymour was handicapped somewhat due to the slippery floor. Mace and V. Maahs were the stars for Hortonville as were Freiman and Miller for Seymour.

At Menasha on February 23 Seymour was eliminated from the tournament by the rangy Weyauwega team by a score of 19 to 12. Our chances to win were lessened when it was found before the game that the Seymour team had to wear different colored suits than they were accustomed to. The game was very close until the closing minutes when Freiman was taken out on fouls. Our defense seemed to fall to pieces and Weyauwega scored enough baskets to win. Green was the big noise for Weyauwega and Capt. Huth and Freiman played good ball for Seymour.

We entertained Bear Creek on February 26 and beat them 40 to 6. Two subs., Willis Ness and Thompson, played good games.

This game marks the closing of a very successful season for the Red and White, even though we did not get in the district tournament. Too much praise cannot be given Coach Rohloff for his work with the team. Most of the games were officiated by Harry Duffey, and we might add that a better referee cannot be found. Credit must be given to Manager Holz and Trainer Mill for their work with the team. With every man returning next year with the exception of Capt. Huth, with Capt. elect "Bob" Miller to lead the team, and with good material coming up from the class teams, a bright outlook is Seymour's for the coming year.

HOW ARE YOUR EYES ?

It is a most important question nowadays, for there is an impression that each succeeding generation makes glasses more and more in demand. But it is wise to have advice about the eye-sight, and particularly if one suffers from headaches, most of which are distinctly traceable to eye disorders. We fit Glasses that give instant relief to the eyes and the head.
