Superintendent of Schools

"The end of a dream!" said Mr. Culver on January 25, 1960, to the assembled student body . . . the "dream" started in April; it was partly fulfilled in October when four new classrooms were opened on the north end . . . second semester began with more new rooms finished on the south end . . . a new industrial arts shop, locker rooms, a freight intake, more kitchen storage area, a new boiler room, commercial rooms, three connecting hallways, a "drive-in" classroom for driver's ed . . . and more!

Back to the six period day! . . . each teacher with his own classroom . . . visitors coming for ideas to put into their own new schools . . . Space! Space! Space! Seymour High goes into the Sixties with a school set-up second to none!

New, too! Guidance Center

With the completion of the new addition to our school, a room was facilitated for a school Guidance Center, which opened in February. During the first semester Mr. Donald Taylor assisted students as Guidance Director. At the end of the semester Mr. Taylor left to attend a guidance institute at the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Douglas Steuber then continued the program for the remainder of the year.

The Guidance Center serves as a place where students are able to seek assistance in vocational planning and in personal adjustment. Counseling interviews, testing and group discussions in homeroom guidance periods were activities that were used in this program. Each homeroom saw one film a month and held several discussions on current social problems during Friday morning guidance periods. The counseling and testing program of the State Employment Service was part of activities for seniors. Seniors also attended a College night program at Clintonville, where they discussed plans for further education with college representatives.

Assisting students in locating occupational and education materials in the Guidance Center were student receptionists from the commercial classes. Also several girls from these classes helped with stenographic tasks. The school guidance program is coordinated by the Guidance Director with the assistance of a faculty guidance committee.

Vocational planning takes information!

Union Representatives

SOPHOMORES

After guiding the freshman initiation, the sophomores entertained at the annual Sophomore Party, which started all the activities off for the year at S.H.S.

Lynn Stritzel and his date, Bonnie Drephal, were the Homecoming representatives for the sophomore class.

The float theme, "Argyles 'Il Sock 'Em." won first prize in the Homecoming parade. Through their contributions the Sophs elected Bob Clymer king of the Polio Dance.

Steve Prelipp was the president of the class. The other officers were Bonnie Drephal, vice-president; Diane Lange, secretary; and Mary Gosse, treasurer.

JUNIORS

The first event of the school year for the juniors was Homecoming. Terry Rettler and Virginia Kraft were the junior Homecoming representatives.

Robert Keune was elected vice-president of the Student Council, with Janice Reinke as secretary.

November found the class keeping up an active correspondence with orchestras about music, and committees were selected for the all-important annual prom. With the prom date set for May 6, talk of themes filled the home-room periods after the teachers had been sworn to secrecy.

FRESHMEN

The long awaited first day of school finally arrived, and the freshmen stepped into Seymour High School for the first time. The first big event of the year, Initiation, helped everyone get acquainted.

Michael Reis and Kathy Parks were the Homecoming candidates and represented their class well. The freshman float entered in competition was titled "We'll Can 'Em."

Class officers were Phyllis Krahn, president; Ben Seehafer, vice-president; Mary Ann Mory, secretary; and Sally Eick, treasurer.

Past Perfect

On September 4, 1956, 158 bewildered freshmen entered Seymour Union High School and laid the cornerstone of their future careers. The days flew by, and before we knew it initiation day was upon us. The girls donned a necktie, a blouse and pair of shoes made out of gunnysacks, and long white underwear. Their hair was worn in pigtails tied with ribbons. The boys wore flowers in their hair, high heels, nylon stockings, a garter, and dresses of burlap. President, Larry Mory; vice president, Byron Wendt; secretary, Janice Lathrop; and Nancy Brownson, treasurer; led our class. Our Homecoming court representatives were Janice Lathrop and Byron Wendt.

After a well deserved vacation, 149 sophomores, headed by president, Dick Gosse; vice president, Lee Powell; secretary, Gerry Nelson; and treasurer, Pat Otto, began plans for freshman initiation and an all-school party with the freshmen as guests. Gerald Woodke and Janice Mueller represented their class in the Homecoming Court of Honor.

Our Junior year was fun, eventful, and successful. Class officers were president, Dick Shaw; vice president, Gerald Brusewitz; secretary, Carole Melchert; and treasurer, Mary Ellen Veitch. Dick Gosse and Pat Otto were candidates for the Homecoming Court. The junior float, "We're Expecting a Victory," portrayed a huge stork with a football in its beak. It received first prize. Class rings were also selected. The big event of the year was our Junior Prom, "Oriental Paradise." The theme was carried out with a buddha garden and tea house. Queen Susan Almos and King Jim Rusch led the Grand March. Others in the Court of Honor were Dennis Wagner and Janet Melchert, Ronnie John and Carole Melchert, Lynn Summers and Kate Vanden Heuvel, and Dick Shaw and Pat Otto. Music was furnished by Tony Winters and his orchestra. Ruth Mueller and Janice Lathrop were chosen as Badger Girls; Dick Shaw and Dick Gosse as Badger Boys.

Busy and experienced seniors we were in 1959. The Homecoming Court included King Jerry Kurowski and Queen Marlene Reis. The "Ripper," under the guidance of Mrs. Steffen and co-editors Nancy Nussbaum and Connie Pautz, was a major undertaking, offering experience and fun. Our last year also saw S.H.S. grow larger with the new additions.

As plans for graduation approach, we seniors would like to insert a very special thanks to parents, teachers, and fellow students who have made this year such a success. Your patience and understanding will always be remembered with appreciation by the Class of '60.

The Class of '60 Looks into the Crystal Ball

After an absence of ten years, we return to our alma mater. There have been a few changes around the place, and one of them is coming toward us now.

It's Richard Shaw, the principal, with Judith Karweick, Superintendent of Schools. After exchanging greetings and congratulations, we are taken on a tour of the buildings, which have been recently remodeled. Before we leave, however, Mary Ann Hackel, one of the office girls, reports to Mr. Shaw that the information on the new wing has been compiled and typed by her assistants, Maris Cleereman and Sharon Heiden.

Our first visit is to the automatic cafeteria, where we see Elaine Fuss and Pat Weyers supervising students as they give their orders to the huge machine. The age of automation is really here.

Next, we are taken to the newly constructed addition of Seymour High School. Here we find James Spaude conducting a class in astronomy, explaining to his intelligent group the position of the Big Dipper in relation to the Little Dipper. His star-gazing assistant is Joe Murray.

Our next surprise comes when we find Ruth Mueller and Judy Marcks teaching a class in first-aid. Here comes another casualty. Seems that Roger Zibell got his hand caught in the push-button device on his automatic farm, here on the campus. Dragging him in are Don Schmidt and Ronald Vanden Heuvel, his trusted helpers.

We come to the end of the corridor and emerge into the crisp spring air. A class in Space has been added to the school's curriculum. We find instructors, Lee Powell and Jim Reese, about to be launched into space. A television receiver connected to the ship will transmit their every move to us here in Seymour.

Helping them into their space suits are Vernon Mastey and Loren Marcks. 5-4-3-2-1-0. Good luck, fellows!

We return to the building, where Larry Mills, electrical engineer, shows us the functions of a wireless light invented by Allen Malueg.

Dennis Wagner is getting messages on his television receiver, and we see that the boys have landed on Planet XL32400. It is not unexplored, for the next thing we see is a sign bearing the inscription "Planetville, 2 miles."

Coming into view is Dick Gosse, Mayor of the city. He gives the boys the key to the city and invites them for a stay. He takes them on a tour of the armed forces. General David Lubinski informs us that the first man satellite has just been launched, containing Tom Dopkins. We are then escorted by Dick to the Hexagon, where we meet Dale Gregorius, head of the National Guards; Eddie Gritt, head of the Marines; Dick Scruton, head of the Army, and Dick Landwehr, head of the Navy.

In the Hexagon we stop for lunch, served by Marcella Klitzke and Ellen Kazik.

From here we take a jet car, driven by James Jach, to Charles Miller's garden. We see Peter Tubbs and his botanical assistant, David Baxter, working on a new species of moon grass.

From the garden we go to the new shopping hall in Planetville. We see Marie Van Straten, the famous actress, having her hair fashioned in the latest space-look by the expert beautician, Madame Marlene Wagner. Assisting her are Pat Bunkelman, Susan Almos and Marlene Reis.

We meet multi-millionaire, Byron Wendt, and his secretary, Bonnie Spaude.

Shopping for her 10 youngsters, Arlene Genske is discussing the price of Saturn-fried ostrich eggs with Joyce Glatz, June La Maide, and Marie Banker.

As we go to their grocery check-off, whom should we find at the check-out counter—but Dorothy Banker!

Walking farther down the street, we come to the new Fisher and Krueger Construction Agency. We find draftsman, Wayne Genske, hard at work, drawing up the blue prints for a new space-port. Doing the construction work are Vic Doxtator and Allen Vanden Heuvel.

Passing on, we spot Ronnie John's new barbershop. Ronnie is giving Allyn Staley a fresh hair cut.

Here comes "Roving Reporter," Carole Melchert, taking a survey of all subscriptions to the "Planetville Tribune," which she and her co-editor, Mary Ellen Veitch, publish.

Farther down the street we find that Tom Schroeder has turned tycoon and now runs the Schroeder Department Store, where he sells everything from suits to the newest electrical gadget. As his sales manager, Bonnie De Ruyter and buyer, Pat Vanden Langenberg, come out to consult him. We won't stop to talk.

Janice Lathrop, famous lecturer, is giving her latest views on Space Travel as a career. With her is her secretary, Clarica Sachs.

Ronnie Seidl is the owner of a shop, where he sells hand-tooled leather articles.

Planetville seems to have a great deal of industry and is a prosperous little burg. For instance, there is Tom Sutliff's Auto Mechanics shop, where James Holzer and Wayne Tesch are employed as master mechanics. Blanche Peterson, Audrey Platten, and Connie Roskom have turned out to be successful career girls as co-managers of the universally known Peterson, Platten and Roskom Company, manufacturers of flying carpets, "complete with all the luxuries of home." There they go with their secretaries, Anna Vanden Langenberg, Dorothy Vanden Langenberg, Margaret Van Kauwenberg, and Janet Dobrinska. Happy Landing, girls!

At the Planetville Museum, Professor Gerald Brusewitz explains to his class the muscular coordination of a "prehistoric" animal to Planet XL34200—the horse!

Teachers, Carole Vanden Heuvel, Judith Stephani, Rita Stingle, and Janice Schnabl, are wandering among the old rock samples. Not far behind are Mary Beth Minschmidt and Jan Mueller, having a field day after a grueling week in the offices of Beyer and Woodke, "Laundry and Dry Cleaners," owned by Ralph Beyer and Gerald Woodke.

On the outskirts of the city, a space port reigns over all with great pomp and austerity. Here we find space rangers, Gerry Kurowski, Bernie Cornelius and Arnie Metoxen, about to take off with their stewardesses, Janet Melchert, Jean Doersch, Helen Miannecki, and Joann Miller. Checking the workings of the rockets in readiness for the flight are Wayne Hauschultz and Lee Kettner. Up in the Tower Room, Mark Daoust gives directions for the countdown.

Leaving the space port, we walk back along the scenic Lake Road. Off in the distance we see Margaret Summers and Pat Jourdan busily sketching the view. Admiring their work is Lorraine Moser, home on leave from her base, where she is lieutenant in the WAC'S.

We see coming toward us, Dorothy Beyer and Judith Graves, known to all for their famous bakery. Also well known is Dave Sievert for his cherry pies, which seem to be a special up here.

We are met by Nancy Sachs, famous occupational therapist, with her assistants, Rosemary Pantzloff and Rhona Piechocki, out for a stroll after a tiring day. Here, too, are Nancy Brownson and Sharon Reed, taking their annual vacation from their occupations in the world of business.

Lee Lehrer and Joe Lom are enjoying their favorite occupation—sleeping under the nearest shade tree.

Lou Ann Summers and Carol Skenandore are busy discussing the latest fashions in "Carol's Dress Shop," where Lou is top fashion coordinator.

By now the sun is setting, and we go to the Hotel De Planet, owned by Karen Ostrowski and managed by Sharon Sedo, Nancy Nussbaum, and Gerry Nelson. Desk clerk, Lucille Noe, gives us the key to our room, and bellboy, Vernon Stingle, helpfully takes our baggage to our rooms.

We have a delicious dinner, while being entertained by Sandra Coisman, touring the planet as a popular singer. With her is her accompanist, Jane Brick, and song writer, Cathy Birling. Cathy's current hit is "Laughing, Cause I'm Blue!"

The outstanding brain surgeon of the year, Larry Mory, is here with assistant, Martin Van Lishout. With them are Pat Otto, Mary Decker, Audrey Lotter, Nancy McGillivray and Judie Groat, as house nurses.

In the Purple Room Jerald Peotter and James Rusch are giving a farewell party for Ronald Decker, official ambassador to the moon. Already enjoying themselves are Doris Mullen, Carol Maass, and Judith Muenster.

After the party we go to our rooms for a well-deserved night's sleep. In the elevator we see Gerald Vander Zanden, who has become very adept at running up and down the elevator shaft.

As we take our key, we bid goodnight to Mary Jane Nikodem, switchboard operator, who tells us that Hubert Jourdan and Lynn Summers, touring the asteroids, were sorry they were unable to come, but hoped everybody had a good time anyway.

And so we say good night and pleasant dreams to the Class of 1960.

Last Will and Testament of the Class of 1960

We, the Senior Class of Seymour Union High School, City of Seymour, County of Outagamie, and State of Wisconsin, being of sound mind and body, do hereby publish and declare this our Last Will and Testament:

To our parents we appreciate their kindness for giving us a chance to receive an education.

To the janitors we leave our exam papers, notebooks, and pencils.

To the Freshmen we bequeath our many happy experiences of the past four years.

To the Sophomores we will our school spirit.

To the Juniors we relinquish our title as Seniors of Seymour Union High School.

I, Gerald Brusewitz, leave my love for trigonometry to Mike Tierney.

I, Marie Banker, will my quietness on the Saar bus to Bill Weier.

I, Roland Fischer, will my ability to drive in the ditch to Louie Walters.

We, Elaine Fuss, Clarica Sachs, and Pat Weyers, leave our jobs in the kitchen to Susan Eick.

I, Tom Dopkins, leave my shyness around girls to Jim Fischer.

I, Bernie Cornelius, bequeath my speed on the basepaths to Lynn Stritzel.

We, Nancy Brownson and Sharon Reed, will our argumentativeness in Am. Probs. to all future students of that course.

I, Jim Reese, will my slightly used '50 Ford to anyone who will take better care of it than I did.

We, Nancy Nussbaum and Margaret Van Kauwenberg, will our blonde hair to Joanne Gosz.

We, Karen Ostrowski, Sharon Heiden, and Bonnie DeRuyter, will our library of Mrs. Jenkins' jokes to any freshmen who will hear them next year.

I, Gerald Vander Zanden, will my nickname "George" to Butch Kemp.

I, Marie Van Straten, bequeath my drumming ability to Don Wendt.

We, Marlene Wagner and Janice Mueller, will our steady ways to Sally Eick.

I, Tom Schroeder, leave my ivy-league caps to Mr. Weaver.

We, Lee Powell and James Spaude, leave our ability to make a mess out of the Physics Lab. to Herman Miller.

We, Lee Kettner and Lee Lehrer, will our initiative to Mary Krohlow.

I, Janice Lathrop, leave my giggles to Sue Moriearty.

I, Keith Krueger, leave my handwriting to all hieroglyphics majors.

I, David Lubinski, will my locker and Ohio road maps to Chief Plumb.

We, Mary Lueck and Janice Schnabl, bequeath our height to Jacob Weber.

I, Carol Maass, will not run for re-election for the office.

I, Pat Jordon, leave my artistic ability to Yvonne Danforth.

We, Jim Holzer and Jim Jach, will our love of the out-of-doors to Mr. Peterman.

I, Judy Karweick, leave my musical talents to Lawrence Welk.

I, Ellen Kazik, bequeath my tinted hair to Bob Clymer.

I, Larry Mills, leave my shyness to Bill Dobrinska.

I, Lucille Noe, will my short last name to Carol Minschmidt.

I, Joe Murray, will my ability to be a pest to Byron Wagner.

We, Rita Stingle and Ruth Mueller, leave our good grades to Terry Miller.

We, Hubert Jordan and Lynn Summers, leave our will to run.

We, Pat Bunkelman and Janet Dobrinska, bequeath our late hours to Alvin Ziegenbein.

I, Allan Malueg, leave my explosive ability to Carl Brocker.

I, Vernon Mastey, will my '32 Ford to next year's driver training class.

We, Jean Doersch and Maris Cleereman, leave our love for Library books to Bill Halverson.

I, Charles Miller, leave my spare tire to Mr. Schnur's car.

I, Helen Miannecki, leave my licorice stick to Beth Veitch.

I, Judy Stephani, leave my comb to Jean Ann Kroner.

We, Joyce Glatz and Mary Ann Hackel, will our ability to gossip to Merlin Maass.

I, Eddie Gritt, bequeath my hair to Bob Keune.

We, Pat Otto, Madelyn Cornelius, Geraldine Nelson, and Nancy Sachs, will our quietness to Cheryl Graul.

I, Allyn Staley, leave my managing ability to La Verne Brugger.

We, Ronald Vanden Heuvel and Jerald Peotter, leave our ability to sleep in class to Janice Reinke.

I, Larry Mory, will my basketball ability to Mike Puls.

I, Carol Vanden Heuvel, will my love of conservation class to Andrea Hanson.

I, Allan Vanden Heuvel, leave my good jokes to Mr. Unrein.

I, Mary Minlschmidt, will my devilish ways to Karen Kellogg.

We, Dorothy Banker and June LaMaide, will our love for Nichols to all the other Bankers in school.

I, Dorothy Beyer, refuse to will Merle to anyone because I want him myself.

I, Dick Gosse, leave the Student Council's problems to Bob Keune.

I, Jane Brick, will my art of blushing to Jenö Bessette.

We, Peter Tubbs, Don Schmidt, and Vernon Stingle, leave our farming attitudes to anyone who hates farmers.

I, Wayne Tesch, leave my good driving to Sharon Trost.

We, Audrey Platten and Judy Muenster, bequeath our good nights to Barb Gardner.

I, Ronnie John, leave my maroon-colored sweater at home. (We hope so!)

I, Wayne Hauschultz, will my muscles to Rex Marx.

I, Ronnie Decker, "am not leaving nothing 'cause I need everything I is got."

We, Lou Ann and Margaret Summers, leave our last name to "Old Man Winter."

I, Judy Marcks, leave my cooking ability to the freshman home ec. classes.

I, David Baxter, bequeath my first chairs in classes to Faye Zuleger.

I, Tom Sutliff, will my good luck to LaVerne Stephani and Steve Prelipp.

I, Wayne Genske, will my dancing ability to David Hopkins.

We, Victor Doxtator, Richard Scruton, and Loren Marcks, will our books to anyone who promises to make better use of them than we did.

I, Dorothy Vanden Langenberg, will my driver's license to anyone having as hard a time getting one as I did.

We, Mary Ellen Veitch and Martin Van Lishout, bequeath our cornets to anyone who promises to practice as much as we didn't.

We, Dennis Wagner and Byron Wendt, leave our English books to someone who will like Senior English.

I, Pat Vanden Langenberg, will my job in the Dime Store to Grace Banker.

I, Joann Miller, will my slenderness to John Lueck.

I, Ralph Beyer, will my love for horses to all horse lovers.

We, Joseph Lom, Gerald Woodke, and Dave Sievert, leave our love of Guide-O-Ways and our usher bands to future ushers.

I, Doris Mullen, bequeath "that tired feeling" on Monday morning to Marilyn Eick.

We, Judy Groat and Lorraine Moser, will our love of studying to Jack Fassbender.

I, Judy Graves, will my pony tail and love of convertibles to Sharon Tremel.

I, Mark Daoust, will my good grades in agriculture to all underclassmen in the course.

I, Mary Jane Nikodem, bequeath my height to Susan Eick.

I, Dick Shaw, leave the Senior gavel to next year's Senior president.

I, Dale Gregorius, have already left my ring.

We, Sharien Dranzik and Ronald Seidl, will our love of Arts and Crafts to Wayne Muenster.

I, Bonnie Spaude, will take Byron with me.

I, Roger Zibell, leave my nickname to the "Ripper."

I, Gerald Kurowski, bequeath my shoulder pads to Lee Rihm.

I, Audrey Lotter, will my friendly disposition to Byron Wagner.

I, Richard Landwehr, leave my cashmere sweaters to Jim Schoen.

I, Marcella Klitzke, will my waitress ability to Janet Reese.

We, Sandy Coisman, Mary Decker, and Nancy McGillivray, leave our love for the Hi-Fi Room to anyone who likes jokes.

I, Carole Melchert, will leave the cheerleaders.

I, Janet Melchert, will my unchanging heart to Connie Crystal.

I, Arnold Metoxen, bequeath my place on the balcony railing during noon-hours to Gay Kollath.

I, Susan Almos, will my hair to Sandy Page.

I, Marlene Reis, leave my crown to future Homecoming Queens.

I, Rosemary Pantzlaff, will my first hour study hall of the past four years to anyone who wants it.

We, Sharon Sedo and Anna Vanden Langenberg, leave our many friends and nice personalities to Ken Young and Andy Gerl.

I, Arlene Genske, will keep Jack for myself.

I, Jim Rusch, leave my Perry Como sweaters to Gary Krueger.

We, Caroline Skenandore and Connie Roskom, will leave our lockers to the wall.

We, Blanche Peterson and Rhona Piechocki, bequeath our love of Mrs. Jenkins for a homeroom teacher to all incoming freshmen.

I, Cathy Birling, would just like to leave.

Sworn and subscribed before the school this third day of June, nineteen hundred and sixty.

'59 Student Council '60

Under the capable guidance of Mr. Behrendt and Mr. Jersey, the Student Council had another great year.

Our committees did the bulk of the work and as usual did it in fine style.

This fall Mr. Behrendt and Janice Lathrop, State Board member, accompanied our four delegates, Sharon Braun, Barb Treml, Janice Reinke, and Bob Keune, to this year's State Student Council Convention at Green Lake.

The Council's biggest project of the year was its Student-Government Day, which turned out to be a smashing success.

WELL DONE, COUNCIL MEMBERS!

Guide-O-Ways

The Guide-O-Ways is a very active organization composed of juniors and seniors. The girls distributed football, basketball, and concert programs. Also the girls, wearing formals, ushered at graduation exercises. The boys directed parking at the football games and maintained order at the basketball games. The members also ushered at open house and at other special events.

The homecoming float theme was "We'll Usher Them to Victory."

The club's advisor was Mr. Schnur.

Student Council elections are held every year in the fall. This year a "victorious" campaign for Janice Reinke (secretary) and Bob Kuene (vice-president) was carried out under the leadership of their campaign manager, Gay Kollath, and their "loyalist" supporters: Judy Karweick, Dick Shaw, Charles Mueller, Sharon Zepnick, Beth Veitch and Phyllis Krahn.

An equally great campaign was carried out for Mary Wagner (secretary) and Fran Babbitt (vice-president) under the leadership of their capable manager, Nancy Birkholz, and their "Federalist" supporters: Marie Van Straten, Kathy Stephani, Mike Puls, Janet Reese, Mary Ann Mory and La Verne Stephani.

DEBATE

Standing: J. Lathrop, J. Cumicek, R. Schroeder, Mr. Watson.
Seated: P. Krahn, M. Sutliff, S. Moriearty, B. Tremi.

Debate

The debate members, under Mr. Watson, did well this year, tying for the Conference Debate trophy on the question resolved: That the federal government should substantially increase its regulation of labor unions.

Safety Club

The newly organized Safety Club under the direction of Mr. Gesteland has worked hard to promote safety. During the year they have sponsored a safety slogan contest, safe driving day, and civil defense week.

One-Act Play

"The Giants' Stair" received an "A" rating at the League One-Act Play Contest, held here October 22. Another "A" rating was received at the Shawano District One-Act Play Contest. At the Sectional Contest at Stevens Point the Seymour entry was given a "B."

Senior Class Play

The story of "The Little Dog Laughed" centered around Laurie Huntington, an attractive college sophomore majoring in psychology. Confident that her college courses qualified her to solve her family's problems, Laurie went to work, with hilarious results! An unusual staging effect was achieved with the outside flat, which was moved on stage as it was needed. The entrance by some members of the cast via the center aisle of the auditorium also added to the enjoyment of the capacity crowd. Mrs. Charles Jenkins was the director.

Under the able guidance of Mr. Chambers and Mr. Gulbrand the Seymour High School football Indians took the field in the season opener against Kewaunee. After the dust had cleared, the Indians were on the short end of a hard fought game. This was only the prelude to the season that was to follow. Although the fighting eleven lost all eight ball games, they gained the respect of their opponents for their fine, hard play.

The Indians lost their second game of the campaign to the West De Pere Phantoms, 7-0. Seymour displayed a fine attack, with a good "hard-nosed" defense. If it had not been for a bad break late in the game, the decision could well have been reversed.

Failure to move the ball consistently and poor weather conditions hampered the squad throughout the year as they dropped their remaining games.

However, there were many bright spots. Against the Redbirds of East De Pere the boys displayed a powerful offense in piling up 199 yards through the air.

The future looks bright! Although the Indians will be losing such stalwart performers as linemen Jerry Peotter, Jim Rettler, Byron Wendt, Keith Krueger, and backs Jerry Kurowski, Larry Mory, Ronnie Decker, and Bernie Cornelius, they have an excellent returning nucleus for next year's squad.

Linemen Robert Schroeder, Merlin Maass, Russ Mielke, Lyle Mielke, Allen Roskom, and Jerry Braun are all proven competitors, who have shown they can do it all.

The varsity should receive a big boost when Mr. Unrein's "B" squad arrives on the scene. They had a good five wins and two losses record and should bolster the team greatly. Also next year's backfield of Terry Rettler, Jim Fischer, Pete Blom, David Charles, and Jim Mory should make Seymour one of the most explosive teams in the NEW. WAIT UNTIL NEXT YEAR!

Signed,
The 1960 Football Indians

The 1959-60 Varsity Season

With great expectations the 1959-60 version of the Seymour Indians headed out on the warpath to "Scalp" a few opponents. Four returning lettermen and a hopeful group of underclassmen composed the early season nucleus of the team.

The failure of the Indians to get enthusiastic in the early part of each game led to a disappointing start of the season. As the year progressed, the Indians continued to show improvement in many respects. The loss of players due to injuries and illness, plus a weak bench, handicapped the squad for a good part of the schedule.

The ability of the team to get up steam after having been beaten by a larger score was shown in the remaining games. Regaining their post-season form, the Indians beat Sturgeon Bay in a thriller for their first win of the season. The fine all-around play of Larry Mory, Melrin Maass, and Dick Gosse were big factors in this victory.

In their only encounter with conference champion Kewaunee, the Indians played their finest first half of the season. Larry Mory and Ronnie John led the team in hopes of gaining an upset. The shorter Indians proved their skill by gathering in twice as many rebounds as the conference leaders did.

With five conference games left, the team set out to improve its record. Three of the five remaining games were heart-breakers for the Indians and were lost by a total of five points. Seeking revenge for an earlier defeat, the Indians ran up their highest offensive score of the year in defeating Oconto Falls. A balanced attack of scoring and an all-out effort on the part of the entire team were the assets contributing to this victory.

This year the Indians played in the opening game of the Clintonville Sub-Regional tournament and went down to defeat at the hands of the host school.

Seniors Ronnie John, Dick Gosse, Wayne Genske, Dick Shaw, and Larry Mory turned in some fine performances during the year, well backed up by capable underclassmen. Larry Mory, the leading scorer, was chosen as the Most Valuable Player of the 1959-'60 season.

Throughout the schedule the team members worked long and hard. Although their deeds were not rewarded with victories every game, the well-coached Indians displayed much spirit and sportsmanship and made a fine showing for the school.

The Girls Athletic Association, commonly known as GAA, is advised by our Physical Education teacher, Miss Richter. The officers for the '59—60 school year are as follows: Mary Decker, president; Fran Babbitt, vice-president; Mary Ellen Veitch, secretary.

Bowling was the first activity of the year, and Carole Melchert's team took the championship. During the winter our time was devoted to basketball, volleyball, and badminton. Tennis was taken up in the spring.

The volleyball tournament between the classes was omitted this year due to lack of participation.

The sport heads are as follows: Pat Otto, bowling; Marcella Klitzke, basketball; Judy Rohloff, volleyball; Barb Tremi, badminton; Sharon Zepnick, tennis.

In May five girls were chosen to attend the annual Play Day at La Crosse State Teachers College. They were accompanied by Miss Richter.

foundation but Ripper does and me would like you to meet people

[Faded, illegible handwriting]

Hi Karen,
It has been fun
knowing you. See you next year. Now don't go + get Rick all shook up. Good luck to a swell kid

who help build it?

Hi Karen
It was nice being in phy Ed with you.
Hope to see you next year as a big junior.
