A high school
sets before its restless youth patterns of learning and living.
It imparts creativity,
preserves friendship,
and stimulates the exchange of ideas.
As we enter into these patterns
we gradually develop an inexhaustible wealth of interests, abilities and talents.
We express a mood through the rhythm of the "school dance".
Caught unaware, we find depth
in a causal remark, meaning in growing physically as well as mentally, and stimulation
in assisting in a dramatic production.

As we grow older more patterns of life emerge.

Leaders are born,
athletes are formed,
individuals grow, and we learn to contribute to school and to our society.

With patience,
we learn to loose ourselves
in the web of activity.
We learn to participate in class,
to become involved in the excitement of a good game.

We experience responsibility,
the challenges of competition, and the rewards and satisfactions of a worthwhile organization.

Daily,
We express ourselves
through patterns.
We experience motivation
and discipline.
We expose our talents
and give of our knowledge.
We discover a point of view and grow individually.
As we are about to leave these patterns
we develop new ways
of living,
new ideas in life,
and new ways of learning.
But never,
do we forget the patterns the high school sets before us.

Educators Enforce Ideals

As students set patterns at SCHS, so do the conscientious group of individuals who are needed to make up an efficiently run school system.

Our Board of Education as a group of spirited citizens, who give freely of their time to the great public service of helping education in this community, sets patterns in the governing of school policy.

The patterns of fine leadership are exemplified by the combined efforts of our school's administrator, Mr. L. C. Martens, and principal, Mr. J. Peterson, who strive endlessly for the best education possible.

The forty-one teachers in our school system offer to the student the educational opportunities for scholastic achievement. They singly set their own patterns of educative methods and then unite and form new patterns in each department.

Heading each of the twelve departments at SCHS this year are: Agriculture, Mr. Harold Tech; Art, Mr.

Johnson Loud; Business Education, Mr. George Behrendt; Home Economics, Miss Harriet Maas; Industrial Arts, Mr. Richard Tepp; Language Arts, Mr. Anthony Sittarich; Mathematics, Mr. Loren Cismoski; Music, Mr. Allen Butcher; Physical Education, Mr. Donald Chambers; Science, Mr. Robert Wolk; Social Studies, Mr. Joseph Unrein; and Guidance, Mr. Floyd Smith.

Every department is striving toward a better curriculum such as the revising of the subjects offered by the Language Arts Department and the new data processing course initiated this year into the Business Education Department.

Thus to provide a good academic foundation, it is necessary to have an efficient group of individuals willing to give their utmost in providing a sound education for all.

SENIORS

PATTERNS OF PREPARATION

Senior To Citizen

In the fall of '63 we entered high school, filled with hopes and great expectations. Our initiation to the high school system passed quickly as we progressed from freshmen to sophomores. Events of our sophomore year included "a first of its kind" Talent Show.

Our Junior year brought class rings and, of course, the big event — the prom. The theme Atlantis was portrayed with underwater scenes and was quite a gala event.

As we attained our ultimate goal — our senior year — we began to look back. There were fond memories and joys of the past four years. The knowledge we gained, the experiences we'd had, and the friendships we'd made would long be a part of us.

Our thoughts are now of the future. We owe much to our school, the faculty, and our communities. We hope we can show our deep appreciation by making a better world, for ourselves and for those who shall follow in our footsteps.

SCHOLARSHIP STUDENTS

Scholarship, leadership, character, dependability and service are the prime requisites of those students selected and honored by the school and community.

The DAR award is presented each year to an outstanding senior girl. Margo Gardner was presented with the honor this year.

Leadership potential provides four candidates the opportunity to participate in Badger Boys' and Girls' State during the summer. The girls chosen to represent Seymour were Judy Lerum and Kathy Zuleger.

Badger Boys were Jim Blumrieck and Dave Tesch.

Attending outstanding summer programs were four SCHS students. Kathy Van Bostel and Sandy Braun spent several weeks in July studying journalism and yearbooking under a program for high school students at the UW in Madison. The girls were sponsored by the Seymour-Black Creek Community Press. Dave Jenkins studied at Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois, under another journalism program. He contemplated aspects of newspaper journalism, listened to lectures by outstanding journalists, and wrote newspaper articles. Under a Behavior Science Institute, Dave Tesch spent his summer days at Western Michigan University where he studied animal behavior and worked extensively with white mice. The knowledge, experiences, and character development these four students received was beneficial.

Faithfully representing Seymour were Badger boy and girl candidates: Jim Blumrieck, Dave Tesch, Kathy Zuleger and Judy Lerum.

Selected for the DAR award was Margo Gardner

Persio Brings Culture Of Brazil To SCHS

PERSIO, FOREIGN EXCHANGE STUDENT

Persio Freitas arrived in America on August 19, 1966, at 6:00 P.M. He made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Stan Butters and his three American brothers Robert, Terry, and Randy. In Brazil Persio left behind his three sisters. Also living with him were two children who lost their parents.

Persio's school in Brazil differs somewhat from Seymour High School. A school day there is usually no more than five hours. Their schools are divided into three shifts: morning, afternoon, and night. Another difference is that they don't have each subject everyday, and with the exception of laboratory and engineering, the teachers change rooms for each class, not the pupils. Persio's class day in America consists of English, American Problems, speech, math, French, and physical education. The subjects don't differ much from those in Brazilian high schools.

Persio was brought to the United States with the help of the Seymour American Field Service chapter. Though this organization is not actually a club, many students and adults worked long hours. The AFS is under the direction of a five man adult committee, which works with the student committee. Their main goal throughout the year is to earn enough money to make it possible for a foreign exchange student to come to Seymour each year and also help the student previously there to adjust to the Seymour life and faces.

Refreshments provide relaxation at the get acquainted reception for Persio and his American parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Butters.

Margo Gardner, AFS president, and Persio enjoy a friendly chat at lunch.

Persio delights listeners with musical talent by singing and playing the guitar at a concert.

PATTERNS OF GROWTH

Anxious And Eager

Although the junior class was the smallest class this year with only 165 members, they achieved much. They reached out to a higher level of learning and began to realize the importance of life.

Their year was started by constructing a huge hippopotamus for their homecoming float and tagging it with the slogan, "We're hip on a victory." They received third prize in the float competition. Representing the class on the homecoming court were Lorelei Landwehr and Dennis Murphy.

Early last fall, after many long weeks of anticipation, class rings arrived. Everyone was thrilled with the new design and the variety of stones.

The forming of the prom was headed by Jackie Huettl and Chub Garsow. The committees worked together for many hours to create a truly great traditional Junior Prom. They were proud of their ability to assemble unique and ingenious decorations for the dance.

With the help of their class advisors, Mrs. Eleanor Piehl, Mr. Joseph Unrein, and Mrs. Linda Repulski, this has been one of the most exciting years for the class of '68.

Familiar Faces, New Ideas

The sophomore class, the largest ever to be enrolled at SCHS, consisted of 211 students. They entered another year of challenge with growing pains, as they were introduced to frogs and triangles. But renewing acquaintances from the past year was of prime importance.

The highlight of the sophomore achievements was the homecoming float. The float, "We're Too Stubborn to Loose," featured an enormous donkey and achieved Grand Champion of the 1966 homecoming. Selected to represent their class on the homecoming court were Pam Schroeder and Dan Ossman.

"Happiness is High School" was the theme of the sophomore class party dedicated to the freshmen. The decorations for the dance were simple yet clever. The purpose of the dance was for the freshmen to become accepted into school activities.

The entire sophomore class would like to thank Mr. Johnson Loud, Mr. Gerald Fazi, and Mr. Arthur Greaves, class advisors. Their time and effort spent on the homecoming float and sophomore class party, plus many other activities was greatly appreciated.

Seeking New Heights

Anxious to begin high school life, 201 eager freshmen stormed the doors of SCHS. The first few frustrating weeks were spent making new friends, meeting new teachers, and adjusting to the schedule. As usual, the freshmen encountered the problems of getting lost in the halls and defending themselves against friendly hazing on the part of upperclassmen.

When the Homecoming came with all its pep and vigor, the freshmen discovered the true meaning of "class spirit." Joining talents they constructed their initial class float. With a green and brown base portraying a football field, the float bore a large gray porpoise skimming over a goal post. The theme, "Victory Is Our Porpoise" won a first place rating for the freshmen. Representing the class of 70 on the homecoming court were Nancy Peters and Dean Wendt.

After surviving the hustle of homecoming, the freshmen again settled down to such things as learning the laws and government of their country in civics.

Mr. Russell Hanseter, Mr. Vernal Anderson and Miss Delores Spoolman were freshmen advisors.

Television animation was used as a theme by the Freshmen class as "Flipper" was their "porpoise" for victory.

Great Beginnings And Settled Ways

Perhaps a future scientist, Leanne Heike accurately measures out the liquid needed, as fellow students observe her movements.

The Sophomore class captures first place as they declare "We're Too Stubborn To Lose".

ACTIVITIES

PATTERNS OF PARTICIPATION

Dancing fun for the homecoming was made possible through the waltzes and modern tunes played by Jerry Sobieck and the Solidares.

We're Headed For The Stars

HOMECOMING

A dummy, an "out-house," boxes and paper were all needed to make the 1966 Bon Fire blazing.

"We're headed for the Stars," theme for the 1966 homecoming, welcomed alumni, faculty, and students to SCHS. The festivities began with the bon fire and pep rally Thursday evening on the school grounds. Senior football players completed the night with words of enthusiasm and encouragement.

After the blazing Thursday event, Friday came with a pep assembly, where the 1966 homecoming king and queen, Tony Skenandore, and Arlene Hart were crowned. Acting as attendants were class representatives: seniors, Karen Beyer, and Jerry Kranzush; juniors, Lorelie Landwehr and Dennis Murphy; sophomores, Pam Schroeder and Dan Ossman; and freshmen, Nancy Peters and Dean Wendt. Following was the parade of floats, cheerleaders, football players, the 1966 royalty, and the band. Winning places for the many long, hard hours they put into their class floats were: sophomores, first place, with "We're Too Stubborn to Loose", and seniors, second place, with "We'll Puff and They'll Be Dragon". The freshmen took third and the juniors fourth.

Tension mounted as a large crowd of students, faculty and alumni gathered Friday evening to watch the Seymour Indians loose a tough game with the Algoma Wolves 7-6.

After the game, Jerry Sobieck and the Solidares provided music for dancing and listening at the homecoming dance held in the SCHS gym. "We're Headed for the Stars" came to an end as the band played their last waltz.

Paper tissue and eager students helped the senior class win a second place in the homecoming parade.

Balloons were hung from the gym ceiling to add the final touch for the homecoming dance.

Proudly reigning over the 1966 homecoming were King Tony Skenandore and Queen Arlene Hart. Attending were Karen Beyer and Jerry Kranzush, Lorelei Landwehr and Dennis Murphy, Pam Schroeder and Dan Ossman, and Nancy Peters and Dean Wendt.

Queen Carol and King Tony

The first step toward the Junior Prom was taken in December with the selection of the theme, "Atlantis". Organization of the work brought about the visible beginning of the event: deciding what the decorations would be, how they were going to be built, and a multitude of other things.

As the time drew near, the Juniors really started working. It was up to Kerry Van Vuren and Bill Trost as co-chairmen to provoke the initiative and imagination of the students.

When the evening of April 29 arrived, the gym was in a state of fantasy, decorated like the underwater city of Atlantis. Couples danced to the music of Jerry Sobieck and the Solidaires.

The 1966 prom was reigned over by King Tony Skenandore and Queen Carol Gosz. The 1965 king and queen, Robert Derus and June Hoff, crowned the new royalty. Laurie Stephani and Lee Skenandore were crown bearers. The setting for the coronation was the entrance of the temple. Other court members were: Earl Court and Sandra Braun, John O'Brien and Bonnie Sedo, Donald Jochman and Barbara Stephani, Steve Rusch and Marian Lehrer.

Miss Ellen Chase, Mr. Harold Tech, Mr. S. Thomas Day, and Mr. Loren Cismoski were the class advisors.

Future royalty, perhaps? Lee Skenandore and Laurie Stephani show the prom-attenders how it's done.

Sleepy-eyed volunteers help clear the gym. Clean-up proved to be as much fun as the prom itself.

Literary Guideposts In The Constant STUDENT LIBRARIANS

Gertie Stapelbrock, a student librarian, efficiently shelves a "Saturday Review".

Providing aid and assistance in the library for the students of SCHS this year were the student librarians.

Made up of students interested in library work, the student librarians undertook many of the important duties necessary for the orderly operation of the large library at SCHS.

Some of their many tasks included checking books in and out, making out fine slips, shelving books, changing newspapers and magazines with each new issue, straightening shelves, making bulletin boards, keeping book circulation records, helping with the annual library inventory, and helping students locate books and magazines. All student librarians were required to have a working knowledge of the Dewey Decimal system.

Student librarians also worked closely with the bookworm Club on many of its activities. These included maintaining the library bulletin boards, as well as decorating the library for Christmas and homecoming, and making posters advertizing National Library Week in the spring of the year. Book displays were also the work of SCHS's student librarians.

The efforts of many are required to operate a large high school library. Under the direction and guidance of Mrs. Jenkins, head librarian, the volunteer work of the student librarians proves invaluable in that it offers an efficient service to students of SCHS which could not otherwise be provided.

Search For Efficient Education

BOOKWORM CLUB

The Bookworm Club, made up of students interested in library work, directed their efforts at making SCHS a more "Library-conscious" school.

In keeping with their aim, members decorated the library for homecoming and donated it for use as a check-room for the homecoming dance. Other club projects included selling paperback books and making posters for National Library Week and other library-oriented events. They decorate the library for Christmas and other social and seasonal events as well as setting aside space for Ars Nova displays. Students walking into the library will always notice library bulletin boards up to date, and this project in itself keeps the artistic Bookworms busy throughout the school year. The year's major undertaking, however, was the sponsoring of a faculty "Coffee Hour", which gave members of the faculty an opportunity to examine a display of new and exciting library books. The club also boasts a periodic column in the school paper, "The Blue Jay", dealing with library news and featuring George the Bookworm.

As in the past, the club was guided in its endeavors by Mrs. Marjorie Jenkins, SCHS librarian.

Decorating a Christmas tree will bring a smile to anyone's face, and so it does to Lynn Lembecke's as she performs one of her Bookworm duties.

Enrichment Provided By

DRAMATICS CLUB

The purpose of the Dramatics Club was, as in other years, to give students experience in various aspects of dramatic production, and to encourage and further interest in drama among the students of SCHS.

The club's main activity was the one-act play, "The Ridiculous Ladies", a comedy-farce by Moliere, which was directed by the club's advisor, Mr. David Hassell. Since the play was a period production, much time and effort went into set construction and fitting the members in their 17th century "courtly" attire. Included in the cast this year were: Pat Feavel, Gorgibus; Kathy Zuleger, Cathos; Sandy Braun, Madelon; Tim Jensen, Marquis de Marcharille; Don Kluge, Biscount Jodelet; Jim Anshutz, Lagrance; Kent Abel, Duke Croin, Jane Lubinski, Marotte; Steve Mory, Almanzor; Louis Johannes, Jerry Garsow; Allan Demerath, and Mark Hillegas, servants. The play was presented at the league contest at Pulaski where it received a high "B" but was not eligible for further contests.

A number of club members also acted as individuals to heighten their appreciation of fine dramatics by attending the Academy Award winning film version of Boris Pasternak's "Dr. Zhivago" with a group of English students.

Trudy Smits applies that final touch as Patti Stephani probably reviews her lines as she waits.

Ripper Strives For New Journalism

RIPPER STAFF

If smiles are any indication one would guess Ripper editor, Kathy Van Boxtel and assistant editor, Kyle Pasch discovered some great pictures for the 1967 yearbook.

The Ripper, the annual publication of SCHS, is published by a student staff assisted by advisors, Mrs. Marjorie Jenkins and Mr. William Wunrow. Staff membership is open to all students who are interested in any aspect of yearbook publication. Opportunities cover a wide variety of activities ranging from typing copy and indexing hundreds of faces to selling an ad at the local business company. A common goal of all staff members, and especially to the editor Kathy Van Boxtel and her assistant editor, Kyle Pasch, is to produce a worthy yearbook.

The 1966—67 Ripper grew from the theme "patterns". It developed into a composite of events which represent the living and learning in SCHS. As in the past this year's Ripper staff spent countless hours producing a yearbook to which students could look with pride, not only now, but in years to come. Working with the editors were Senior Heads: Cythnia Grunwald and Barb Stephani; Activist Heads: Barb Simon and Karen Beyer; Underclassmen Heads: Marion Lehrer and Lynn Lembecke; Sports Heads: Tim Jensen and David Jenkins; Faculty Heads: Peggy Parks and David Tesch; and Business Heads: Margo Gardner and Sue Feurig. Dennis Fraser and David Jenkins took care of the photography.

The Ripper staff hopes that this yearbook will serve not only as a catalog of people and events, but also as a memory book.

Student "Voice" Speaks Out

BLUE JAY STAFF

For the sixth consecutive year, Seymour Community High School's student "voice", the "Blue Jay", appeared as a page in the weekly "Seymour-Black Creek Community Press".

The staff was made up for the first time in its history, of freshmen and sophomores, as well as juniors and seniors. Aiding and assisting the staff in their journalistic efforts was Mr. Gerald Fazi, who completed his second year as advisor of the paper this year.

Each member of the staff held either an editor's position, where he was responsible for a certain section of the paper, or worked as a reporter and covered social and classroom events.

The job of editor-in-chief was held by Kathy Jenkins, who with assistant editor Sally Tubbs put the page together each week. Dave Jenkins edited the sports section, and Barb Simon held down the mailing duties as exchange editor.

Several major changes were made in regard to the Blue Jay this year, the main one being that the paper was completely extra curricular, instead of being done in a journalism class as in the past. Another new feature of the page was the increased pictorial coverage of weekly news features.

Considering these changes, the deadlines and frustrations of those on the staff were overshadowed by enjoyment and satisfaction with a job well-done.

Kathy Jenkins and assistant editor Sally Tubbs, efficiently compose the dummy sheet for the week's publication.

Governing Body Serves Students Of SCHS

STUDENT COUNCIL

The SCHS Student Council is an organization whose purpose is to serve the students and faculty in school. It is the only elected representative body in school with the sole responsibility for student concern and welfare. A major point of the Student Council's work was dedicated to the planning and preparation of social activities. Many long hours were spent to insure that such events as Homecoming and Student Government Day were memorable activities. School elections, dances after football and basketball games, lyceums selected by the Student Council members, and other entertainment to stimulate social life was sponsored by the Student Council. The executive committee consists of four officers. Presiding this past year were: Dave Jenkins, president; Jim Anchutz, vice-president; Judy Lerum, secretary; and Sue Fuerig, treasurer. Officers are elected by an all-school voting which is held after an open campaign. Posters, tags, and placards are on show as each party strives to win over student votes. In addition to the officers the Student Council consists of elected homeroom representatives, their alternates, and two advisors: Miss Judith Severson and Mr. Floyd Smith. Meetings are held every two weeks. Problems and new propositions concerning the school and students are discussed and handled. The student members helped and encouraged students to have a voice and take a stand in the school's affairs. The meetings are open to all interested students.

Students Recollect Caesar's Time

"Eat, Drink, and Be Merry" — students in Latin Club do as the Romans did.

LATIN CLUB

All Roman minded students who maintain a B average in Latin class or have completed one semester of Latin with a B average are eligible for Caesar's organization--The Latin Club. Under the advising of Mr. Edward Kocha, the club had a very successful year. One of this year's activities for the club was the construction of a float for the 1966 Homecoming parade. After much controversy the theme was decided. "We're Counting on a Victory" seemed to be the students' favorite. In November the club sponsored a movie, Elvis Presley in "Spinout", at the Seymour Theatre. The Christmas season came again and gave the Latin Club the opportunity to go caroling. Since the French Club joined in on this event, Roman and French songs were cheerfully sung to the Seymour residents. One of the club's main events this year, as in the past, was the sponsoring of the Latin Club Banquet. All members of the club dressed in Roman togas and sat on pillows as servants came to serve them their meal and drink. Students making all these events possible were the officers: Val Husman, president; Dave Tesch, vice-president; Sue Feurig, secretary; and Carol Peters, treasurer.

French, A Romantic Language, Motivates

FRENCH CLUB

The French Club began the 1966 school year with vigor and excitement. The first activity for the members was the homecoming float. The students put much work into "We've Got DeGaulle to Win". A first this year for the club was the Halloween party. Pumpkins, autumn leaves, corn and fruit were used as decoration for the event. Students in costumes bobbed for apples and played other games. "Who are you asking to the dance?" echoed through the halls as the French Club sponsored its annual Sadie Hawkins dance. The "Private Property" offered dancing enjoyment. As winter arrived the French and Latin clubs joined to go caroling in Seymour. After the singing event, hot chocolate was served. To conclude the year the club had its annual picnic with all members enjoying roasted weiners and a good coke.

In order to partake in the French club activities as mentioned, you must maintain a B average in French class or complete a semester of French with nothing lower than a B. You are also required to attend all monthly meetings with programs for the meetings varying from skits to guest speakers.

Laboratory Challenges Scientific Minds

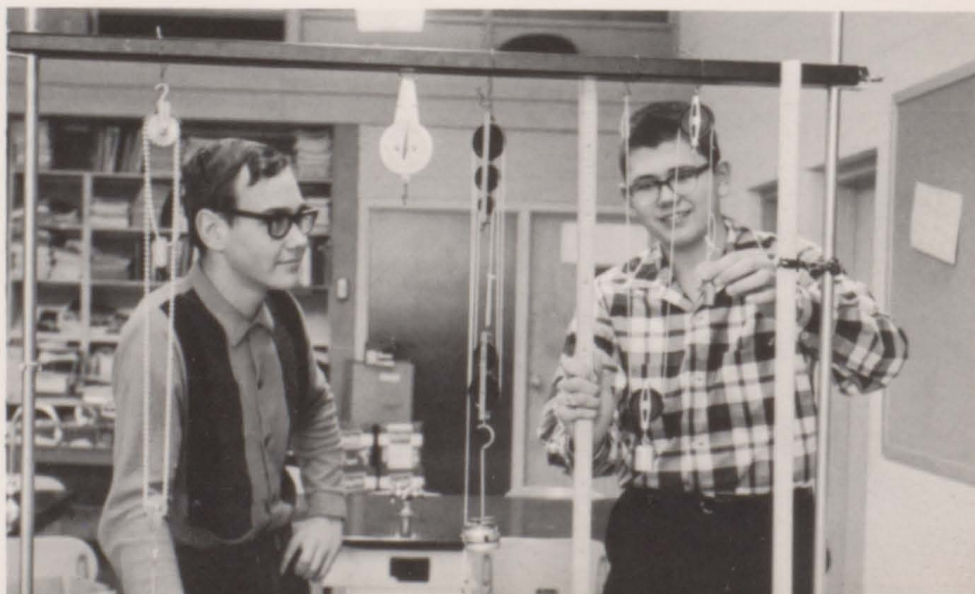

SCIENCE CLUB

The 1966-67 Science Club under the direction of Mr. Russell Kostrazk, Mr. Thomas Day, and Mr. Russell Hanseter was headed by president, Jim Blumreich; vice-president, Dave Tesch; secretary, Val Husman; and treasurer, Keith Zeitler. The meetings were held on the first Monday of each month. Speakers such as doctors, photographers, and veterinarians entertained at various meetings.

The club started out the year by entering a float in the 1966 Homecoming parade. The theme, "We're High on the Clouds of Victory," was depicted by a space capsule on a setting of clouds. In November, the club took its field trip to the Natural History Museum and the Aquarium in Chicago, Illinois. As the year went on the club held its annual Science Fair. Much effort went into producing an excellent show. The work varied from microscopic studies to the study of plant growth. Into effect this year, was the camera division of the club. Students learned the process of film development and the dark room procedures. The club also taught students how to operate projectors and filmstrip machines in order to aid the teachers.

Keith Zeitler and David Tesch seemed to have found satisfaction in their experiment with pulleys.

Teachers play a big role in the American society today. They unite to preform in many activities such as playing in the band.

A New Chapter Trains To Inspire

FTA

A new organization working its way into the club pattern this past year was the Future Teachers of America. Under the careful guidance of Miss Thomson and Mr. Tech, this club sought to interest good students in becoming teachers and to explore the teaching field, including the opportunities and the many areas of the teaching profession.

Membership was limited to students having an academic rating of 8.0 and receiving recommendations from teachers. Leading the club efficiently this past year were the club officers: Kerry Van Vuren, president, Carol Peters, vice-president; Patti Stephani, secretary; and Kent Abel, treasurer. The officers were installed in January by the West DePere Chapter. Many ideas and suggestion on FTA activities were obtained from their visit. The past year the club had panel discussions with college students from the Seymour area. The students discussed college life, and gave a few hints and ideas on how to be a better student once you enter the college realm.

Next year the club hopes to grow and become more active.

Chorus Girls Concentrate Their

GIRLS' CHORUS

With a cheerful smile chorus members, Pam Peotter and Janet Ehlert hand out Christmas concert programs.

About seventy girls practice each day as members of the girls' chorus. Work varies from singing the scale to singing the school song. To break the everyday class routine, Mrs. Pasch has the girls listen to works by Bach, Brahms, Beethoven, and other famous composers.

The girls' chorus concentrated this year on preparing for concerts and tournaments. The Christmas concert and the spring concert were presented with great success. The audience heard such works as "Carillon," "Little Drummer Boy," "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer" and "The Little Pine Tree" at the Christmas program. Mrs. Kathryn Pasch, director, made use of student directors at various times during the year.

The girls' chorus again performed at the district festival. The students acquired much knowledge and experience at this event for a judge gave critical evaluations and gave helpful hints on how to have a better chorus. The girls also participated in the solo and ensemble contests, where those receiving first ratings in class "A" went on to state competition.

Unity Molds Patterns Of Singing

MIXED CHORUS

Red roses bring a smile to Mrs. Pasch's face as they were presented after the operetta.

The operetta "Swingin' High" sparked the mixed chorus to a great singing year. With rehearsal several times a week, the singing show was then presented. Starring were: Brenda Duffek, Linda Miller, Beck Shepherd, Chris Wussow, Randy Butters, Barb Stephani, Jim Anchutz, Dave Haas, and Dale Hodkiewicz. Sue Eisenreich accompanied. The dance band played to add the extra glamor. At the finale of the event, Mrs. Pasch was presented with a bouquet of roses for her excellent direction.

During December, the mixed chorus busily prepared for the Christmas concert. They performed such works as: "Echo Carol", "Do You Hear What I Hear", and "Little Jesus, Baby Jesus." Between January and May the chorus members made plans for the solo-ensemble festival and spring concert. The mixed chorus mastered and learned different, enjoyable programs of music.

With the guidance of Mrs. Pasch, the members performed music for the Kiwanas and other organizations.

The excellent performances of the mixed chorus members were proof of the many hours of practice. Their presentations were enjoyed by all who took the opportunity to hear them.

Agriculture, Unlimited, Important Segment

New products, techniques, and additional advances in the rapidly growing field of agriculture are of great concern to the members of the Future Farmers of America. Films, magazines, demonstrations, guest speakers, field trips, and individual work experience in the agriculture department keep the members of this national organization informed of the advances. These aids and the guidance of the advisors, Mr. Harold Tech and Mr. James Schneider, make for rewarding and enjoyable monthly meetings on the second Monday of each month. Presiding over the 106 junior agriculturist members this year were: President, Carl Schaumberg; Vice-president, Randy Lerum; Secretary, Bob Jenquine; Treasurer, Earl Court; Reporter, Bob Gagnow; and Sentinel, Larry Lambie. One of the major aims of the FFA is to increase the agricultural efficiency of its members. Membership is open to all students who have been or who are enrolled in agricultural classes. Freshmen are always encouraged to join and are invited to attend the first few meetings. The FFA was active in several social functions in SCHS. They sponsored a movie, "Nevada Smith", and a chili supper. Members went on a magazine-selling campaign and a "veto varmit" campaign in which they sold rat bait. The Father-Son banquet was again held with awards presented to outstanding members.

Providing For The Future With A

Thanksgiving is just one of the times for the homemaker to make a delightful meal.

Thinking of tomorrow and serving today, the girls of the Future Homemakers of America learn about themselves and others. Being one of the largest school organizations and affiliated with the state and national FHA organizations, the members work to fulfill the goals set to guide them. These goals, concerning home, community, and world life, help each girl to grow as an individual.

Both duty and fun are combined in selling candy at the football and basketball games, which is one of the sources of finance of the chapter. The sale of cookbooks also provides money for trips and charities. Grace Schaumberg and Rhonda Roepcke are the chairmen of these two activities.

TNT — Tap New Talents — one of the national goals has given each member a chance to learn about herself and develop her hidden abilities. The annual style show gives many girls a chance to display their talents. Held in the spring, the Mother-Daughter Banquet and style show provides a chance for family relationship to be nurtured.

Spotlight On Argumentative Reasoning

Under the command of Mr. A. J. Sittarich, the SCHS debate team once again argued their way through a season of tournaments. This year's topic, "Resolved, that U.S. foreign aid should be restricted to non-military aid" provided the debaters with many an interesting skirmish.

The year began, as in past years, with a trip to the annual debate workshop in Madison, where the prospective debaters heard speeches by University professors on the issues, and a debate by two of the top A-level teams in the state. Armed with notes and knowledge, the debators began the year with confidence.

From slightly nervous C-level freshmen to experienced B-level debators and crafty A-levelers, Seymour, though not always a winning squad, was well represented in the tournaments. In fact this year they entered the State Sectional and bellied out three wins to just miss the State Tournament by one loss. Debators that traveled to the Sectionals were: Mike Jones, Karl Kluge, Avis Lange, and Ken Melchert. With the ending of the tournaments, the team looks forward to next year with its new issues and challenges.

Group Of Skilled Performers

LETTERMAN'S CLUB

The Letterman's Club is a high-spirited, ambitious group of Seymour athletes who have faithfully earned letters through their sincere participation in the high school's sports activities. The purposes of the Letterman's Club are to maintain good sportsmanship and better school spirit the year round and to encourage participation by all students in wholesome athletic activities.

Under the supervision of Mr. Tepp, the club's advisor, meetings were held on the third Monday of each month. The officers presiding over the meetings were: Dale Hodkiewicz, president; Jim Anschutz, vice-president; David Jenkins, secretary; and Don Jochman, treasurer.

During the past successful year the Lettermen sold and wore their school jackets, sweaters, and booster buttons, purchased by the club. The club also sponsored the fourth annual spring banquet. Local merchants, members of various organizations, students, business men and interested people from the area, assembled to faithfully honor the athletes who worked so hard during the year to produce good teams.

Artists Promote Community Interest

ARS NOVA

The "Ars Nova" club, which derives its name from the Greek "new arts", experienced a year of increased activity in its efforts "to promote art in the school and community".

Under the guidance of Mr. Johnson Loud, art teacher and club advisor, and with a revised and improved constitution, the club with its officers, Kathy Van Boxel, president; Colleen Wendt, vice-president; Mary Buntjer, secretary; and Marieth Nicodem; treasurer, undertook a variety of projects to accomplish their goal. Among these were poster-making and displaying student art in the high school and business areas. An annual event for the club was the Art Fair which was held March 10-11. Art from SCHS and the surrounding grade schools was displayed. Work varied from a toothpick house to a wooden sculpture done by an Art III student.

Open as in the past to any student enrolled in music or art classes, the club's meeting programs were of musical as well as artistic interest to members. For many Ars Nova members, however, the highlight of the year was the annual field trip, which was financed by the club's various money-making activities.

A little know-how, tempera paints, and a brush makes painting a simple task for art students.

Reorganized Club Promotes Safety

SAFETY CLUB

The Safety Club, which was reorganized this year, started their activities with a safety check on all cars in the school parking lot. Under the supervision of Mr. Dennis Offerdahl, the club planned many such activities and hoped to gain the interest of more SCHS students.

The officers were Mary Jo Bluma, president; Lois Wendt, vice-president; Barbara Daelke, secretary-treasurer; Luann Chambers, publicity chairman; and Susan Eisenreich, historian.

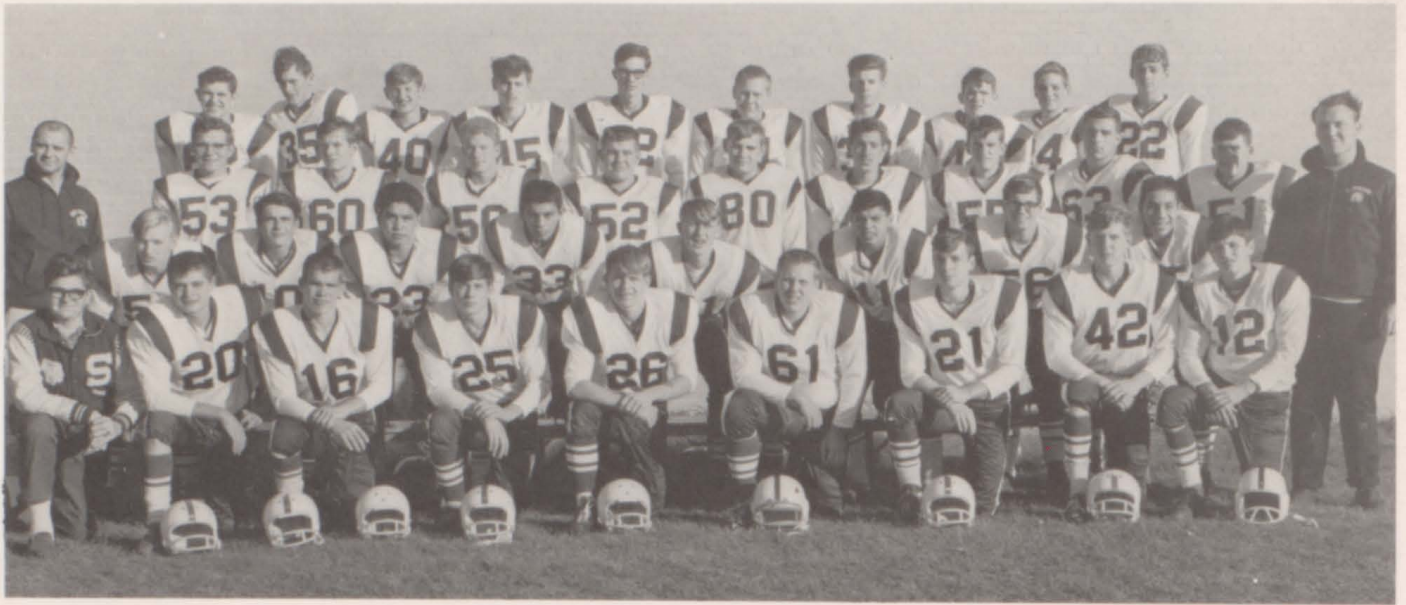

Each year four SCHC Safety Club members are selected to attend the Outagamie Teen-Age Safety Council meetings held monthly at the court house in Appleton. Representing Seymour were Mary Jo Bluma, Allan Demerath, Susan DelMarcelle and Becky Lembcke.

One of the club's projects was to set up a date approved driver code. Under this code boys were tested to show their driving ability. Boys passing the test were then "date approved" and marked as safe drivers. The club also made tentative plans for a car rodeo, a field trip to the Motor Vehicle Dept., presenting safety movies, and more safety checks throughout the school year.

When SCHS's varsity gridders chalked up four impressive victories this season, the Indians were suddenly on top of the Northeastern Wisconsin Conference.

The Indians started off with a 19-12 upset over Bayport on touchdown runs by Jim and Steve Danforth and quarterback Ron Mueller's paydirt pitch to Jerry Kranzush. The following week the Indians handed Sturgeon Bay's Clippers their only loss of the season, 25-6.

At Pulaski, reserve halfback Tony Skenandore scored three touchdowns to lead the Indians to a 33-7 massacre of the archrival Raiders. But in the process, SCHS lost top offensive star Jim Danforth for the season with a broken collarbone.

The Indians bested Oconto Falls 14-7 on Gene Danforth's 40 yard punt return and Skenandore's 45 yard interception runback in the fourth quarter.

But the bubble burst at Kewaunee as the hosts scored a 24-0 victory after Skenandore, Kranzush, Gene and Steve Danforth were helped from the field. The Indians returned home with only a remnant of what had once been the best backfield in the area.

Demoralized, the team dropped a 12-0 decision to Algoma in the homecoming game. SCHS was unable to get back on the victory trail, losing their remaining three games, including a 7-6 heartbreaker to the Bon-duel Bears.

Jerry Kranzush, who finished as the top pass receiver in the NEW, was named to the All-Conference squad as was defensive tackle Don Jochman. Ron Mueller was named to the second team.

Kranzush also received the most valuable and best defensive player awards, while guard Steve Rusch was selected as the most improved player.

Varsity Exerts Second-Half Comeback

This year the SCHS cagers, hampered by lack of height and lack of experience, got off to a very slow start losing the first non-conference game to Hortonville and dropping the next four conference games. Another thing that hurt the Indians early in the season was the absence of senior forward, Jim Danforth, who had to be benched because of a serious football injury. However, these obstacles didn't stop Coach Carl Ibe, who worked patiently for long hours with the boys. It wasn't long before results came. The Oconto Blue Devils came to Seymour hoping for a win, but it was then the Indians got the scent of victory and exploded, downing the Blue Devils 62-48. Once the Indians got a taste of victory, they were a rough team to beat. They went on to conquer West DePere, Oconto Falls, Bay Port, and Ashwabonon. But the biggest game for the boys this year was the win over West DePere, who has always presented problems for the Seymour cagers. After an impressive second half the Indians ended conference play with a 7-8 record. The Indians will be losing three seniors, Jim Danforth, Gene Danforth, and Jerry Ciesielczyk, but will be re-enforced by a number of sophomores and juniors who saw a considerable amount of action this year. Returning players include Steve Mory, Dennis Murphy, Randy Lerum, Pete King, Gray Stephani, and Bob Tremel. All things considered, it was a very rewarding season for both coach Carl Ibe and his boys.

All eyes turn to Jim Danforth as he prepares to "sink it".

Jerry Ciesielczyk reaches high for the rebound.

The best way to describe the JV season is to call it streaky. The season started in fine with five victories in the first six games. Then came a six-game losing streak, followed by four wins. Going into the season finale, the record stands at nine wins and eight losses.

The high point of the season was a one point come-from-behind victory over DePere. In this game Seymour rallied from an 18 point deficit to win 49-48. Considering the major handicap of a lack of height, the season has been successful.

The freshmen basketball team had an average season. With three games left, the team has an 8-8 record. The boys had trouble with the road games, but when they got on their home court it was a different story. The team began the season with 19 players and ended with 11. Ed King and Bob Lubinski led the frosh scoring. The height and shooting ability of the freshman team should be an asset to future SCHS basketball hopes.

A True Test Of Athletic Determination

CROSS COUNTRY

Cross Country is probably one of the least publicized sports at Seymour Community High School; yet it is a true test of a boy's determination and will-power. In order to be a winner in this sport, a boy must really have the desire. There are no teammates to help him and no cheering crowd to give him courage over his 2 1/4 mile run. These 2 1/4 miles are not just a mere run, but a grueling test of endurance running over hills, rocks, and sometimes even stretches of a plowed field.

This year defending Northwestern Wisconsin champs were paced by returning letter winners Dale Hodkiewicz, Dave DeBruin, and Steve DeBruin. These boys along with several others including Bill Trost, Norman Pamanet, Bob Treml, and Randy Bubolz ended the season with a 3 win and 2 loss record. Both losses were attributed to a strong Shawano team.

Seymour's harriers placed sixth in the Shawano Invitational without senior letterman Dale Hodkiewicz. In a later Quadrangular meet at Oshkosh, Seymour placed third behind Oshkosh and Berlin. In the last running of the season, under the able coaching of Don Chambers, Seymour placed eleventh out of sixteen schools with Hortonville winning the meet.

Next year Coach Don Chambers can look forward to an even more successful season with returning lettermen Steve DeBruin, Bob Treml, and Randy Bubolz.

Matmen Rated No. 11 In The State

Ron Mueller prepares to attack!

The 1966-67 varsity wrestling team will be remembered for a long time to come.

Around a solid nucleus of eight senior lettermen, Head Coach Dick Tepp and his assistant, Vern Anderson, molded a unit that established the finest record of any team in the six year history of the sport at SCHS and was feared and respected by every team in the area. When the season ended, the Indians had added five trophies to their collection, including their first North-eastern Wisconsin Conference tournament championship.

SCHS posted six straight dual meet wins before dropping their only loss of the season, 24-20, to Sturgeon Bay. The Indians also won first place in the Holiday Invitational tourney and the New London Invitational. They concluded dual meet competition with a 10-1 slate, downing their foes by an average score of 37-11.

The season reached its climax when the Indians bombed Pulaski 32-14 in a dual meet and two days later edged the arch-rival Raiders 91-90 in the NEW tourney for their first league title. The following week SCHS received its first rating in the "Sweet Sixteen" and ranked No. 11 in the final poll.

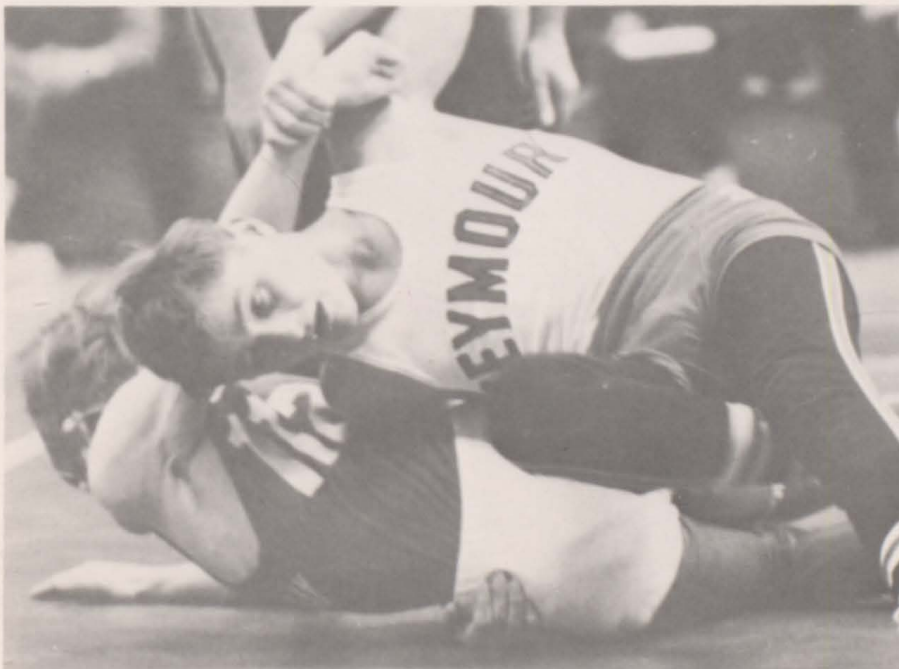

The Indians went on to win their ten-team regional tourney and advanced four champions — Dick Dunks, Dale Hodkiewicz, Ron Mueller, and Ken Nooyer to the sectionals. Dunks and Mueller won sectional crowns, and Hodkiewicz placed second to advance to Madison where each won a bout to register SCHS' first victories at 'State.'

BOTTOM ROW: L. Cornelius, M. Rusch, J. Liebergen, G. Ammerman, L. Cleven, D. Vande Voort, T. Banker, T. Hodkiewicz ROW TWO: J. Brocker, M. Brocker, D. Helms, T. Amob, Mr. Anderson, J. Daoust, Joe Rusch, Jerry Rusch

Dunks, with a final record of 26-1, received the "most valuable" award for the fourth straight year and was also awarded the captain's trophy. Tom Cleven, who advanced to the sectional as a third place winner, was "most improved", and Larry Ganzel received the fastest pin award with a 26 second fall.

Dick Dunks works over a foe with his patented "coffee grinder."

Dale Hodkiewicz has the clamp on his opponent, but the referee is motioning "off the mat."

The Spark Behind The Team

CHEERLEADERS

Twelve ambitious, high spirited, loud-shouting cheerleaders lead the cheers in a great season of sports at SCHS. The cheerleaders supported the games of the two major sports, football and basketball, plus wrestling. They were on hand for every home game and wrestling match and also traveled with the team to other schools in the conference.

The cheerleading team was organized during the fall when tryouts were scheduled. The tryouts were judged by faculty members and the student council officers. The basis for judging included poise, personality, leadership, pep, fitness, and personal appearance.

The development of a good cheerleading squad is not a simple task. The cheerleaders practice several times a week, each session consisting of revision and practice of cheers. Extra practices were held for special events. A few of the duties that took up these twelve students' time and their advisor's, Bonnie Gibbon, this past year were: pep assemblies, announcements for games, homecoming festivities and Parents' Night.

The cheerleaders welcomed the football season in their familiar sweaters and slacks. With a few new cheers and extra spirit they supported a great team. In the winter the "A" squad sported white sweater outfits and the "B" team wore their typical red outfits. With equal enthusiasm they led the cheers for SCHS basketball and wrestling teams.

Pep band adds that extra spirit and go power by accompanying the cheerleaders with many cheers.

The basketball game is the time for exuberant shouts and boundless energy. The cheerleaders put their all into "Fight".

Cheerleaders add spark and encourage the team. All eyes turned towards the basket as Jim Danforth drives for a shot.

Homecoming festivities are taken care of by the cheerleaders. They present the king and queen with rows of pom poms.
