We Build . . . A New School, New Friends, New Knowledge . . .

Co-editors Renee Reed and Rhonda Beilfuss work in the "Ripper" room.

SCHS is being built. It is being built by people who have come to build their bodies and minds. We, the body of SCHS are continually rebuilding through the process of forming new ideas, learning different methods and maturing our opinions. Through the years of attendance, we have built new friendships and re-enforced older friendships. We have joined clubs which enforce the walls of our school. We have studied so we can leave our building as informed students. But best of all we have learned to understand and reach one another, which is the foundation of our school.

The foundations were laid.

Entering a new school with new ideas, new thoughts, new knowledge, and new goals were the main reasons we chose "We Build" as our theme. We build constantly in everything we do. We have tried to bring the Ripper back to where it should be, also.

Looking back we realize how much we have built ourselves up. Once lowly "Frosh", we have now become mighty "Seniors". We have built up our activities and sports to a point where they are a basic part of our lives and never to be forgotten.

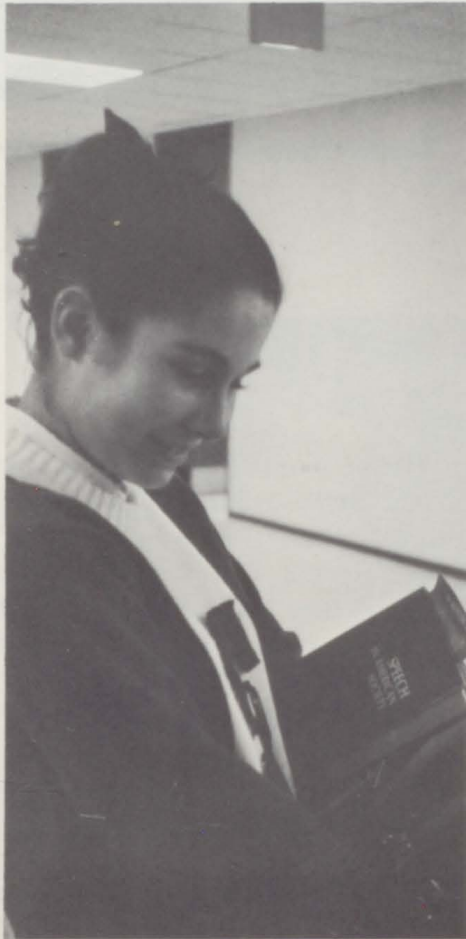

We have also been building toward our futures so when we leave SCHS we will be ready to face today's problems.

We build new friends, new thoughts, and new ideas.

Crystal Blue Persuasion

Class of '71 Provides an Elegant Junior Prom

PROM COURT: Kathy Boettcher, Rhonda Beilfuss, Roberta Dorn, Bonnie Malueg, Queen Sandy Reis, King Pete Hartlaben, Harland Grandy, Mike Huettl.

After months of decisions and hard work by the Junior Class members and their head advisor, Mr. Harold Tech, the prom — Crystal Blue Persuasion — arrived on the evening of April 25th. King Pete Hartlaben and Queen Sandy Reis, crowned by Renee Reed and Randy Wendt, reigned over this formal event. The crownbearers were Miss Jane Genske and Mr. Kip Bunkleman.

The decor of the gymnasium was beautifully done by Charla Phillips, chairman and Andy Huettl, co-chairman. Many long hours were spent by their assistants to assure success.

The multipurpose room was arranged as a café where punch was served to the attending couples. The music was provided by the Vibratones.

reign over the 1970 Prom.

PROM COURT: Bonnie Malueg, Sandy Reis, Roberta Dorn, Rhonda Beilfuss, and Kathy Boettcher.

PROM COURT: Dale Marsh, Harland Grandy, Jim Wickesberg, Mike Huettl, and Pete Hartlaben.

Crowners Randy Wendt and Renee Reed review the spectacle.

Members of the court dance before those in attendance.

Faculty and Administration

Coaches Herbst and Sass discuss the day's track meet with Mr. Anderson.

Agriculturalist Weigand works diligently.

Mrs. Pasch says, "Hi!" from the new faculty lounge.

An honest coach makes a faithful team.

The Administration and Faculty Face

Administrator Martens has a busy day in his new office at Seymour High.

Many Problems in New Surroundings

The Administration at SCHS this year finds itself ready to tackle any problems which may arise in the new senior high system. While pondering their questions, the school board, Administrator L. C. Martens and Principal J. R. Peterson also have new, pleasant offices this year to spend their time in while considering the many problems of running a school efficiently.

Seymour High School band is joined by Mr. Peterson and Director Osterburg in showing school spirit.

Principal Peterson finds satisfaction in the new S.C.H.S.

Assistant Administrator Otto enjoys his new office.

Along with the new school Mr. Peterson encounters new problems.

Books and Languages Provided

Terry L. Payne
English 10, Mass Media, Business English

Eleanor R. Piehl
Novel I and II, Advanced Composition, Business English, Mass Media

Edward Kocho
Business English, English 10

This year's language arts department found the new Language Resource Center to be of great use. Students could be released from regular classes and found delving into many things here. The many available classes are well suited for all students. Those who are college bound find advanced composition and prose & criticism helpful. Students preparing for the business world can take either Business English or mass media. For those who enjoy reading, there are two novel courses available. In the sophomore year English 10 is required. All other English classes are electives for juniors and seniors.

The only foreign language offered at SCHS this year is French. French students may also find many new texts available to them this year in the resource center. French students make use of the language lab set up in their classroom, making use of a wide variety of tapes and other recordings. Four years of French are offered for any student wishing to choose this elective.

Mr. Payne helps Karen Braun in the English resource center.

Mr. Kocho is available in the new English resource center.

as Keys to Knowledge

Mr. Hoeft, along with Bernie Huettl and Duane Grunwald work in the French room.

Lowell Hoeft
French I, II, III, and IV.

Gerald Fazi
Journalism, Speech.

Mr. Sittarich and Sue Blohm worked avidly on the prize-winning Senior Class float.

A. J. Sittarich
Department Head, American and British Literature, Novel I and III, and Prose and Criticism.

Artistic Abilities Made Known

Larry Osterburg
Department Head, Band II and
III, Stage Band, lessons

Band and chorus are offered to all Seymour students. The band offers its Winter, Cafe, and Spring Concerts in addition to marching during football season. The chorus gives its Christmas, Mid-Year, and Spring Concerts for public enjoyment and approval.

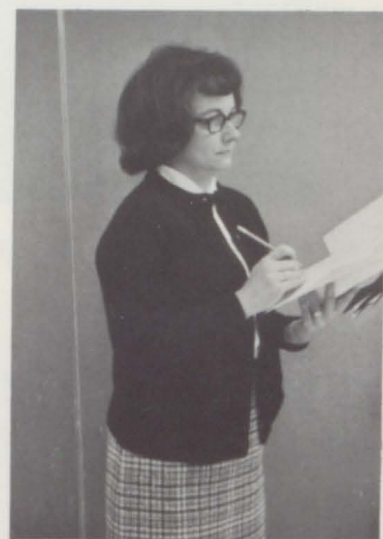

Art is offered to all students. Beginning students receive an introduction to the basic principles of art. Art II ventures further into more technical instructions. In Art III, the students usually advance and seek their own abilities and interests.

Kathryn D. Pasch
Mixed Chorus, Girls Chorus

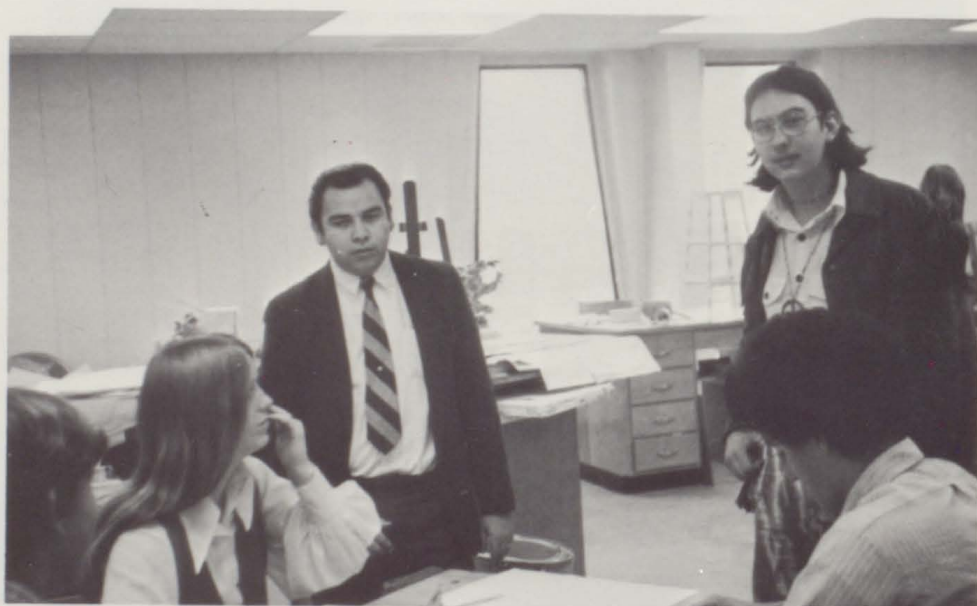

Mr. Osterburg ponders an important decision.

Mrs. Pasch busily takes musical notes.

Johnson D. Loud
Art I, II, III, and IV, Department
Head

Mr. Loud discusses artistic ideas with Art students Paula Peotter, David Bunn, and Terry McCarrell.

Practical Classes for Future Use

Giving students practical experience in farming either on his own farm or in his place of employment was one of the major aims the agriculture programs this year. Students were asked to find ways to relate their classes to what they are doing outside of the classroom.

A new program in the Architectural Drafting II class is being tried at SCHS. In a student-community project the senior boys will be designing a home and this home will be built by the students with supervision from community specialists. Under the "Capstone Cluster" program the students work with three types of drafting.

Peter Albrecht
Power Mechanics, Engine Mechanics, General Shop

Harold Tech
Animal Science, Plant-Soil Agriculture, Agriculture 10, Agricultural Production, Electricity, Agricultural Mechanics I and II

Dennis Offerdahl

Seymour Students Learn from

Vern Kraft
American Problems, Conservation

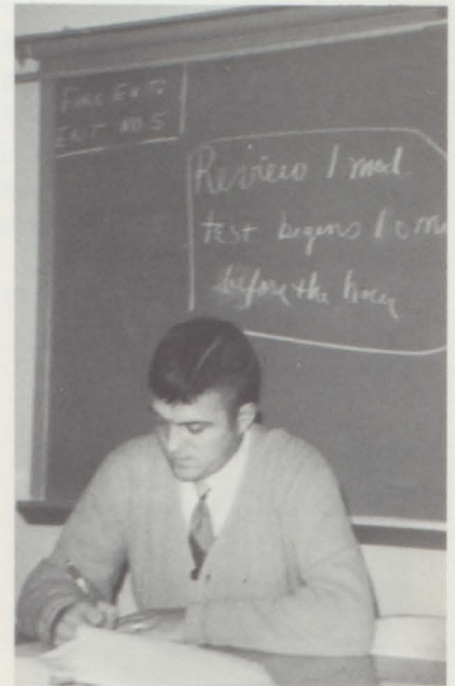

Leo G. Schmidt
World History, U. S. History,
Department Head

William B. Diedrick
American Problems

The building of our nation and the present-day American problems are studied respectively by the juniors and seniors at Seymour High. Mr. Diedrick and Mr. Kraft challenge their American Problems classes with current controversial questions. The creation of our country is explained to the juniors by Mr. Barber and Mr. Schmidt, who also teaches World History. Mr. Schmidt is able to build upon the students knowledge this year, with the aid of two new books: "Tradition and Change in Four Societies," and "A Sense of the Past." Mr. Sass enriches his pupils understanding of the earth by offering geography, political science, and economics.

People and Paper Provide Help

Judith Severson
Guidance Director, Department
Head

This year our guidance personnel consisted of Miss Severson and Mr. Herbst. They aided and counseled our high school students throughout the school term. Tests were administered to juniors and seniors, taking their first steps toward college or technical schools. Students were also given information about the different available colleges and technical schools.

The library at Seymour Community High School is efficiently run by Mrs. Jenkins. Many books, provided in the library, supplied the students with both enjoyment and research materials.

Miss Severson helps Roberta Dorn with senior problems.

G. Herbst
Guidance Director, American
Careers

Mr. Rucinski helps a student with his mathematical questions.

Marjorie Jenkins
Librarian

Mysteries Revealed to Students

Math is offered to all students for three years at SCHS. Many math courses are here to choose from: Algebra I and II, geometry, and advanced math. Students in the latter course tried for Five-High.

Biology, in the Sophomore year, is the only required science at Seymour High. Mr. Hanseter and Mr. North teach this course. The Juniors' science elective is Chemistry, and the Seniors may advance to physics. Both are taught by Mr. Wolk.

Mr. Hanseter prepares for another interesting lecture.

Loren D. Cismoski
Practical Mathematics, Advanced Mathematics, Geometry, Department Head

Russell H. Hanseter
Advanced Science, Biology

Mr. North keeps very busy in the science labs.

Raymond D. Rucinski
Math 3 (pre-algebra), Math 6 (advanced algebra)

James North

S. Thomas Day
Earth Science, Physical Science

Robert H. Wolk
Department Head, Chemistry, Physics

Training for Our Daily Living

Bonnie Denzin
Girls' Physical Education

Gym and home preparations are taught at Seymour to provide students with basic skills to build upon in their futures. Miss Fremstad and Mrs. LaMarche advise the girls in tailoring, home furnishing, cooking, and foods and nutrition. One semester courses in home economics are available for all girls at SCHS.

The importance of a well-trained physical body is emphasized in physical education. This class is required by all students at Seymour. The boys are instructed by Mr. Chambers, and Miss Denzin directs the girls.

Donald Chambers
Boys' Physical Education, Department Head

Our new teacher, Miss Denzin, demonstrates the proper way to string a bow in her new office.

Ellen La Marche
Department Head Housing, Foods & Nutrition, Home Management, Family Life, Growth-Development

Judith A. Fremstad
Advanced Clothing, Tailoring, Housing and Home Furnishings, Foods and Nutrition

Miss Fremstad helps Karla Duhm lay out a pattern.

Basic Skills Taught for Office

A complete preparatory course in shorthand and typing is offered to business students at SCHS. Office Practice is offered to seniors having a course making it possible for them to be fully trained for a job upon graduation. The organization of FBLA — Future Business Leaders of America — this year will also give the students more inside knowledge in the field of business. Data processing and bookkeeping are also provided, for all students who wish to pursue a rewarding career. Mr. Behrendt, Mr. Paulson, and Miss Holmes guide their students in preparation for their future business ventures.

Ray O. Paulson
Bookkeeping I and II, Typing I and II

Mr. Paulson helps Kathy Nicodem with her typing.

Terri Ott receives help with her bookkeeping from Mr. Behrendt.

Dolores M. Holmes
Department Head Shorthand I and II, Secretarial and Clerical Office Practice, Data Processing

Miss Holmes answers questions of senior students Carol Lasecki, Darlene, Stedjee, and Carrie Moeller.

George R. Behrendt
Personal Typing, Typing I, Bookkeeping I

SCHS Supplies Proper

Grace Moeller
Office Secretary

Mrs. Maas takes care in throwing away her mistakes.

Two new members, Mrs. Maas and Mrs. Wiedemann, joined the staff this year at SCHS, to assist as teachers' aides.

Mrs. Freemore, R.N. and secretaries Mrs. Hillegas, Mrs. Mueller, and Mrs. Seidl were familiar faces as the new school year began. Mrs. Gosse also returned as the library secretary.

Thanks goes to the two janitors and two cooks who keep the school running smoothly and efficiently.

Seniors take time to socialize.

Sandy Reis and Sarah Melchert perform a patriotic duty before the Seymour-Pulaski football game.

Our Senior Year . . . the End of the Beginning

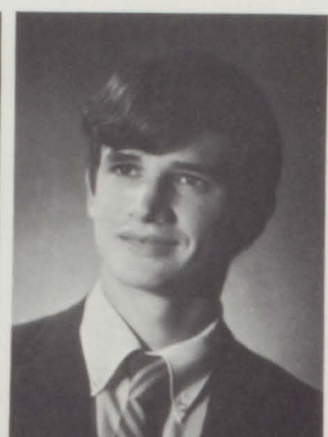

"Last Chance" symbolizes the seniors' plight.

We started the last year as one; no factions separating a class destined for the setting of goals, hopes, and graduation. We entered these halls, again not eagerly, but now with the end of the beginning in sight . . .

As freshmen we were the underdogs, looking up at the others. As sophomores, we started to participate and get into the routine of school. As juniors we received our class rings and produced a beautiful prom, and as seniors we are completing the end of the beginning.

We struggle for an idea, a hope, an ambition. On our own we must make the best decision for the best possible future.

Class Rings and Prom Hi-Light Junior Year

The juniors this year received their class rings, and started their third year at SCHS. Homecoming was the first big event. A committee headed by Pat Getchius worked to plan the float which was an instamatic camera with the slogans "We'll Have an Instamatic Victory" and "We'll Win in a Flash". Representing the juniors on the Homecoming court were Louie Wendt and Mary Treml.

This year, as last, the juniors are responsible for the biggest social event of the year — the Prom. They selected the Avant Garde to play on the evening of May 1.

Sophomores Return with More Confidence

The class of 73 returned to SCHS and discovered a new surrounding. The sophomores, looking forward to Homecoming chose Sue Hackel as chairman to plan the float, which was a Seymour Indian pouring a 7UP bottle over the Phantoms' goal post. Their slogan was "We're Number Un". Representing the sophomores on the Homecoming court were Larry Berken and Cindy Peters.

A highlight of the sophomores' year was choosing the Junior class rings, representing the memorable years at SCHS.

"Heads We Win" won first place for the Seniors.

The homecoming festivities started with the bonfire Thursday night.

Friday was the day for the pep assembly followed by the parade in which the seniors captured first place with their float "Heads We Win".

Seymour was fired up for the game and with a Wendt to Wickesberg pass and a 54-yard run by Quast, Seymour won. Vissers kicked the extra points.

The dance, reigned by Jim Wickesberg and Rhonda Beilfuss was held after the game. The seniors were represented by Glenn Quast and Cindi Wehrman. The juniors by Louie Wendt and Mary Treml. The sophomores by Larry Berken and Cindy Peters.

Student Council Strives to Help Student Affairs

The SCHS Student Council, under the direction of Miss Severson, builds the faculty-student relationship.

The group, supported by the classes, advocated open commons and the wearing of slacks by girls, as some of the many beneficial changes developed as the school grows.

The 26 members meet once a month, with the meetings open to all students.

F.T.A. an Active Club Working Toward the Future

Members of the Future Teachers of America consists of juniors and seniors interested in the teaching profession.

In November, on Parent-Teacher Night the F.T.A. members acted as guides and receptionists, showing parents around the new school and answering questions they might ask.

A new program has been started at S.C.H.S.; it is the 5-High program taken after the College Bowl on Channel 5. Members that participate from our school are sponsored through the F.T.A. organization.

Many of the members of F.T.A. have volunteered their services during free periods to help teach the children at Rock Ledge Grade School.

Cindy Wehrman takes an active part in all French Club meetings.

Throughout the year the French Club has had various activities. For one meeting they had Susan Schoen speak on her trip to France. Another meeting featured Susan Blohm, speaking about her summer spent in Germany. In December the French Club journeyed to a restaurant serving French foods. The French Club also holds a yearly "Sadie Hawkins" dance in February. Anja Leiviska, this years YFU student from Finland also spoke at the January meeting.

Installation night.

The newest organization in SCHS is the Future Business Leaders of America. Under the supervision of Miss Holmes, the club started in October. A formal installation into the club was performed in November. The members of the FBLA hope to develop aggressive business leadership and to create more interest and understanding in the intelligent choice of business occupations.

The membership in FBLA consists of any interested students in the Department of Business at SCHS who hope to learn more about business and its future.

This organization is unified on the local, state, and national level. Officers are Debbie Anschutz, president; Maureen Rusch, vice-president; Judy Ambrosius, secretary; & Gail Barclay, treasurer; and Jean Skinkis, representative.

Clubs Promote Interest In School And In Futures Through Activities

In Fierce Competition In Forensics Contests

The local forensics contest was held on February 18. Two students from each category and one play were selected to go on to the sub-district contest on March 11. Those students, receiving an A at this contest, continued to the district contest and with another A went on to state. On March 16, the students participated in the conference contest with a trophy awarded to the top school in A and B categories.

Mrs. Pasch accompanies the mixed chorus with a watchful eye.

The mixed chorus began the year with their first recital on November 12 at the parent-teacher conference. It was the first time the auditorium was used for a school function. With new uniforms of various colors — blue, green, gold, and red — the songs were made more exciting.

The big highlight of the year was the Christmas concert, which involved the chorus singing the prophecy and the fulfillment of Handel's MESSIAH.

This mixed-chorus member watches his music carefully, so he won't make any mistakes.

These members of the mixed chorus do not seem to have anything to do right at the moment.

Sounds Bring Enjoyment to Members

Many parts of the program, included soloing, which was done by the mixed chorus members.

In the spring came the annual Music Festival, and the spring concerts. Many members also participated in solo-ensemble festivals. Throughout the year the mixed chorus did a most commendable job in presenting enjoyable music.

Now, that was really funny!

Mrs. Pasch keeps her front row of students under control most of the time.

Sections Harmonize Voices to Produce Melodies

The girls chorus is under the direction of Mrs. Pasch. The chorus this year consists of very few members. One of the activities of the group is; volunteering to be usherettes for the mixed chorus concerts. They escorted the parents and friends to their places. After the concert the girls served refreshments to the guests.

The girls, as in mixed chorus and band, participate in the annual Musical Festival, which includes solo ensemble activities.

The girls sang such songs as "Like as a Father", which is sung in rounds, and a religious number, "How Lovely are the Messengers".

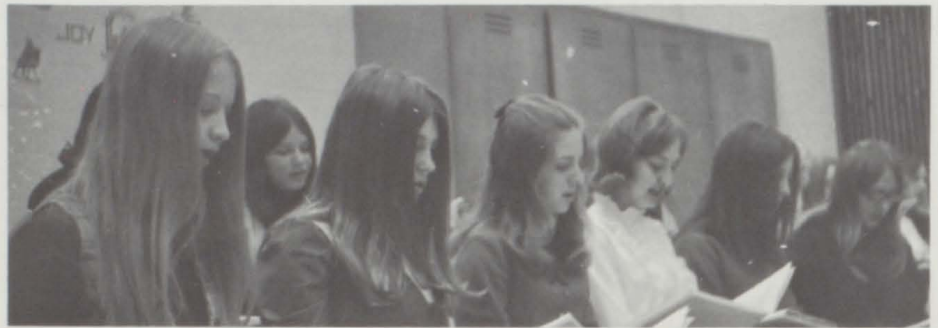

Although they are few in number the girls enjoy singing together very much.

What if my mouth gets stuck?

Crimson Blazers Fire Up with Exciting New Sounds

Under the direction of Larry Osterburg, the Crimson Blazers Band showed their various abilities with their first concert on January 26. The group performed numbers such as "Universal Judgement," Fandango, "Sunburst," "Nightfall," and "Frail Scenes."

The band also displays their musical talent in the spring concert usually held in May. The Crimson Blazers participate in the solo-ensemble tournaments held in March. This year the tournaments will be held at Seymour.

A "Dance Band" was formed which is made up of members from the Crimson Blazer Band.

Indians Shine in Moments of Glory

Our Seymour trackmen finished a rough season in '70. Even though they didn't tally up a lot of wins, the Indians put their hearts into it.

Glen Quast was a bright spot on the team. He went to State where he placed 4th in pole vaulting and 6th in the broad jump. Glen was also voted Most Valuable by his fellow trackmen.

Coach Mr. Herbst and assistant Mr. Sass really made the guys work. Every Tues. and Thurs. they all ran 6 miles, every Mon. and Wed. they "jogged" only 4 miles. Our trackmen have now broken in the track and will really go places this year.

by Antigo

Seymour's 1970 baseball team had a spectacular year. Only two games were lost, both to Oconto Falls by scores of 4-5 and 4-11. This was in regular competition. During tournament play Seymour won three out of four games smashing West DePere, Freedom, and Oconto Falls. After bowing the Oconto Falls during the season, the Indians came back to trounce them by a score of 11-0.

The coach's awards went to John Everson and Dale Skenandore, while the trophies went to Mike Main, Most Valuable Player, Cub Hieke, Most Improved Player, and Bob Lubinski Leading Hitter.

Two of the main reasons Seymour had such a great year was because of the experienced coaching of Mr. Diedrick. Indian fans made the long journeys along with their beloved players, cheering them on even when things looked bleak.

to Third Place in North-East Wisconsin Conference

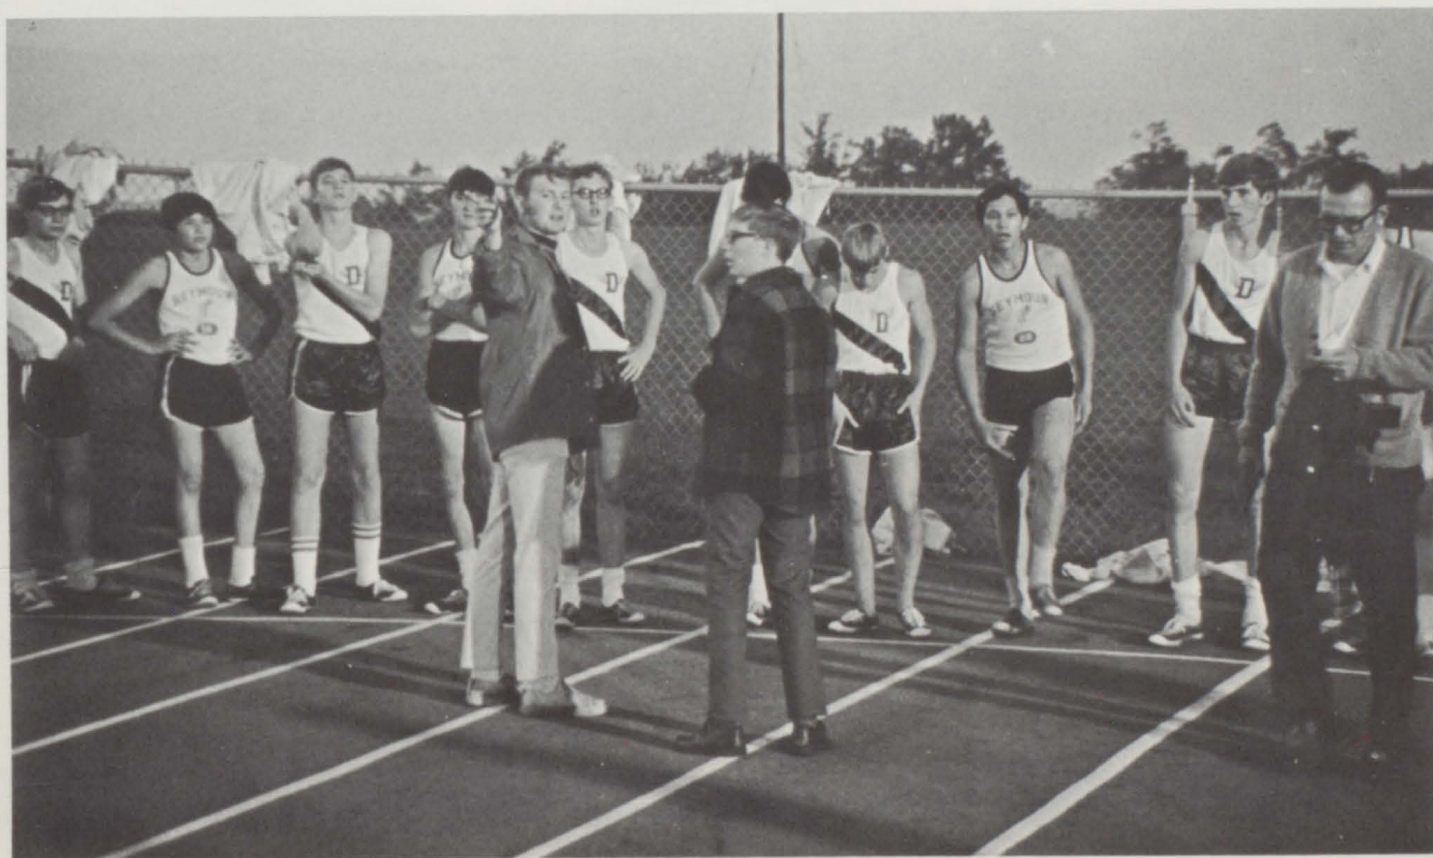

The 1970 cross country team got off to a great start by placing second in the triangular meet at DePere. The tribe spurred on to the Shawano Invitational to place fourth out of eleven schools. At East De Pere, Shawano, and the Seymour Triangular, the Indians rambled in last. A striking victory marked the pacesetters as they smashed Sevastopol. At Clintonville, six schools struggled to gain fame, De Pere came out on top, Clintonville stole second, and Seymour rolled in third. After the meet, Mark Demerath was selected as one of the top runners of the day. Repeating the triumph, Seymour invaded Ashwauebenon to top them, too. In the 1970 Regional at Kaukauna, the tribe placed fifth of the eight competing teams. The big event of the year for the team was their victorious fourth placing in the Sectionals. Mr. Robert Rankin coached the Seymour trackmen in the triumphant year.

Seymour runners strained for that early lead against DePere.

Coach Rankin gives instructions before the start of the race while Mr. Otto, athletic director, makes a few last-minute checks.

Touchdowns

The Seymour squad had a good year of football in 1970. Though the number of wins was not impressive, the teamwork of the tribe was evident and proficient.

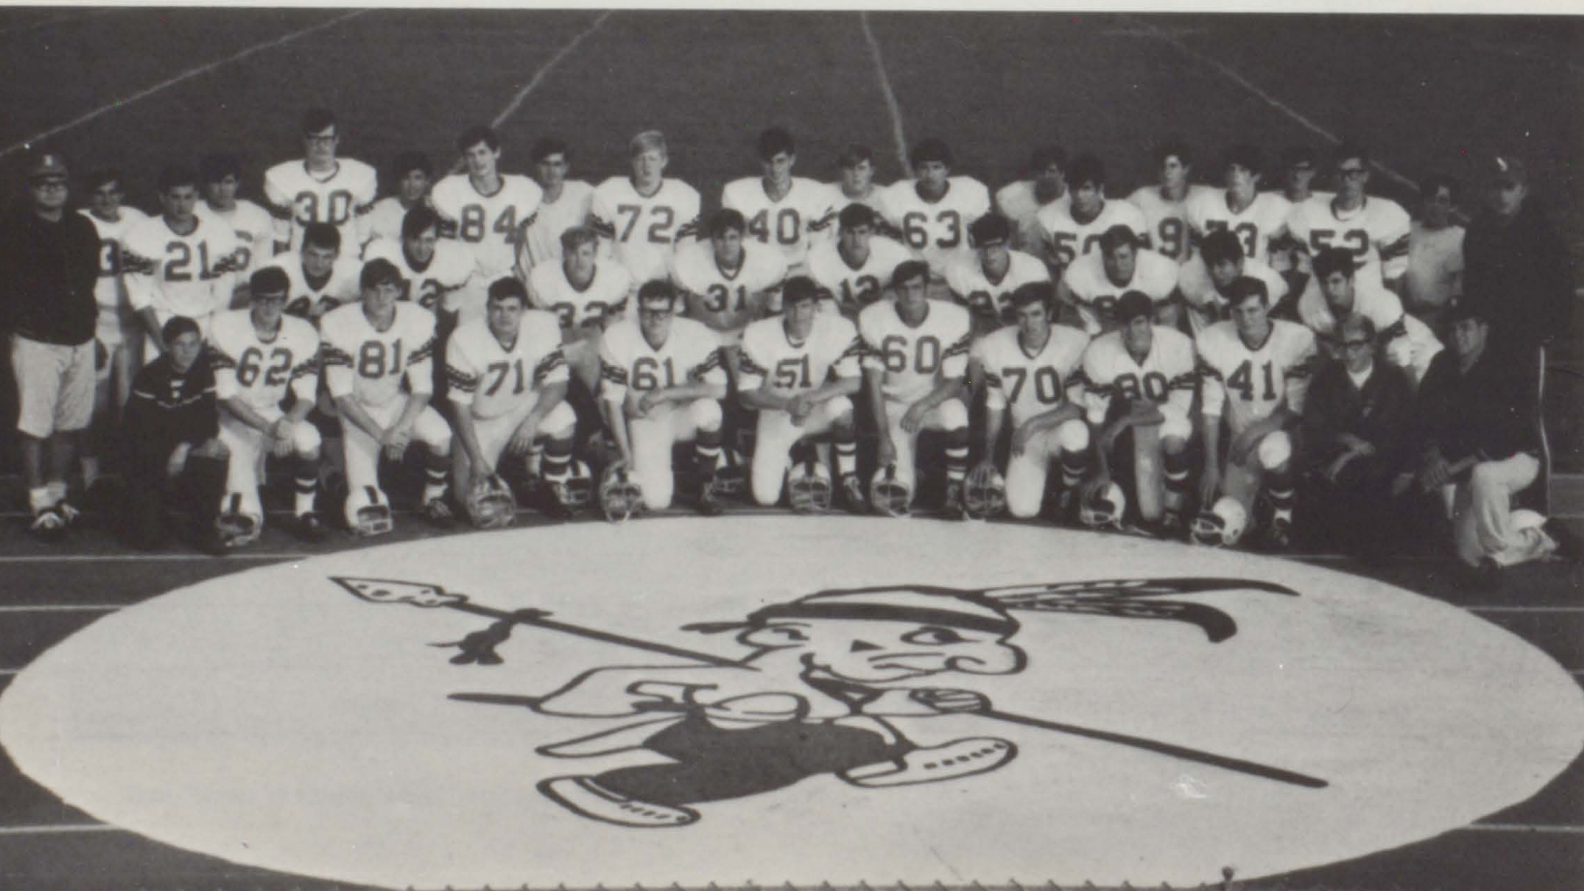

Offensive end Jim Wickesburg and defensive ace "Chopper" Engel guided the Indians to several victories throughout the season. "Bubba" Vissers, defensive and offensive tackle, added greatly to the strength of the team. Our star quarterback, Louie Wendt, handled the pigskin with agility.

Another great asset to the team was Mr. Herbst who backed the tribe one hundred per cent. From workout to last meal, which consisted of three types of eggs, (scrambled, fried, and boiled), Coach Herbst prompted his charges. The meal was served before each game to the members of the starting line-up at the Herbst residence.

Were Our Goal

Regular training practice consisted of jogging, calisthenics, running through plays, and developing teamwork and agility.

This Seymour football team held the position as the number one defensive team until its encounter with Pulaski. Only untimely injuries and poor weather hampered Seymour from having a better season.

Pulaski Proves to Be a Test for Seymour Indians

Team members on the sidelines anxiously await the snap of the football.

Mr. Day handled the yard and down marker while Mr. Chambers served as one part of the chain gang during the Pulaski game.

The Seymour-Pulaski game was the turning point of our football season. We had won all our games up until the evening of September 18th, when Pulaski ran over our mighty Indians 27 to 6. The Pulaski Red Raiders were our toughest competition and drew the largest crowd from the Seymour community. Seymour students, as well as parents and teachers, were there to support our team through this exasperating game.

The leading rusher that night for the Indians was Glen Quast who ran 31 yards in 8 carries. Jim Wickesberg also helped the Indians. He caught one pass of 28 yards and ran for the touchdown, the only one Seymour managed to acquire.

The injuries of the night measured — Pete Hartlaben received a broken ankle, and Ray Jockman went out of the game with a concussion. After the battle between the two, the Pulaski Red Raiders were on top.

Johnson Cops Double Honors

Rick Johnson displays his two trophies: the "Most Valuable Player" trophy and the "Most Improved Player" trophy.

The 1970 golfers braved all hazards this year in winning three matches, East DePere, Marinette, and Little Chute. Many of their matches were close with the opponents getting 1 less stroke than our Indians.

The teams leader was pro Art Greaves. Under his guidance and knowledge they learned the basic fundamentals of golf. Even though Mr. Greaves left, SCHS the golfers will carry the torch for their new coach.

Varsity Displays A New Team Drive And

Starting every game with a jump ball, the mighty Indians are ready for the ball.

The '70-'71 basketball season started at a slow pace, but the mighty Indians coached by Mr. Mullen pulled together to finish with a winning streak.

Ending the season with an 8-8 conference record, Seymour ended in a tie for third place — one of the best seasons in a long time.

Peter Hartlaben finished the season, ranked fourth in total points with 277. Dale Marsh was high rebounder for the team. Seymour bowed before the first place W. DePere team in tournament play.

Varsity Grap

The skillful combination of brawn and brain swept the Seymour varsity wrestlers over eight opposing teams during their '70-71 season. Mr. Tepp coached the squad the relentless rigors of training and conditioning.

A few advancements were made by outstanding junior varsity wrestlers to the varsity squad. Mark Engel, Randy Wendt, Duane Grunwald, and Dan Kimball benefited the varsity when they qualified, after various wrestle-offs.

At the triple duos at Kimberly and West DePere, Seymour gained second place. During the January Holiday Tournament our fierce team attained fourth place among the schools.

Seymour Athletes Advance School Spirit

"Now, there's a cheerleader!"

Letterman Mark Engel.

Backer of the Week Awards.

Eligibility of male students requires at least one letter in a sport, as either a manager or a participant. Initiation into the club is held following the cross-country-football session in November and the basketball-wrestling season in January.

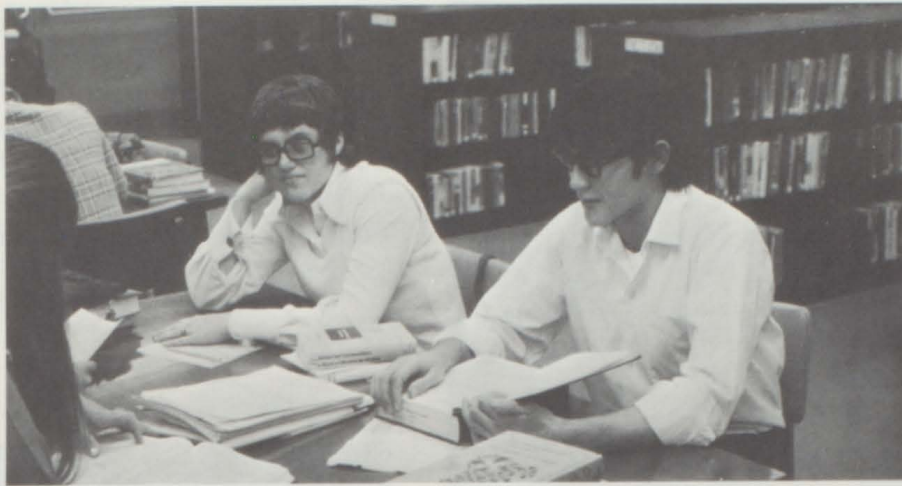

The lettermen sponsor Stunt Night each year, which is generally held in the spring. On this evening faculty men challenge the letterman in bouts of basketball and perform amusing skits and stunts.

Activities are held each month to acquaint specific lettermen with the various other sports. Monthly meetings are also held each third Monday. The organization now consists of 36 letter-winners.

A recent additional feature organized by the lettermen is the new refreshment stand adjoining the football field.
